Government Film Bureaus

WITH foreign trade barriers and chaotic international conditions plaguing the motion picture industry, and the Government realizing more and more the value of films as a medium for carrying messages and for teaching at home and abroad, the close association developed during the war between the industry and Federal bureaus and agencies gives every indication of continuing.

Since the end of the war the industry's standing abroad has been a subject of deep concern. Depending on foreign film markets, the industry has had the assistance and cooperation of the U. S. Department of State and its embassies throughout the world in its effort to combat import restrictions and establish the principle of free trade in films.

To combat some of the trade barriers, several members of the State Department staff have been working with Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association, leading executives of the MPA's foreign department, and other industry executives.

THE HISTORY OF OSCAR

THIS YEAR Oscar, the golden symbol of fame conferred by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, has reached the age of twenty-eight. Long since his first appearance on the scene of glory in Hollywood his birth, origins and history have become confused in tradition and much elaborated myth.

Oft beset by perplexed inquiries in the years between, Motion Picture Almanac set about research for the purpose of presenting for the industry the truth about Oscar.

Oscar was nameless when he came into the world as an award symbol the year the Academy was founded, 1927, and he remained so for four years, known then just as "the statuette."

The idea for a statuette originated at a meeting of the first board of governors of the Academy. Cedric Gibbons, now executive art director for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, after hearing discussions of certificates, scrolls, medals and plaques, urged that the awards should be represented by a figure of dignity and individual character which recipients would be proud to display. While he talked he sketched a figure and design. It was Oscar's first picture. The drawing was adopted and sent for execution in the round to George Stanley, a Los Angeles sculptor. From his hands came the Oscar who has been growing in fame ever since.

THE golden figure was still without a name that day in 1931 when Mrs. Margaret Herrick, present executive secretary of the Academy, reported for her first day's work as librarian. A copy of the statuette stood on an executive's desk and she was formally introduced to it as the foremost member of the organization.

She regarded it a moment. "He reminds me," she observed, "of my Uncle Oscar."

Nearby sat a newspaper columnist and the next day his syndicated copy contained the line "Employees have affectionately dubbed their famous statuette 'Oscar'." From that day on he has been Oscar.

The Academy's Oscar is ten inches high, weighs seven pounds, his insides being bronze and his exterior gold plate. He costs about a hundred dollars.

ON MAY 6, 1929, first year awards were presented—for achievements of 1927-28—eleven "Oscars" were presented by the Academy. Since that day the number of statuettes given the annual "choice few" has increased. During the intervening years a total of several hundred golden knights have gone to persons contributing "best achievements" in motion pictures.

The trophy is fully protected by copyright and is produced by only one manufacturer, licensed by the Academy. Use of the statuette or reproduction of it in any manner is prohibited, without written permission of the Academy.

ACADEMY AWARD WINNERS OF 1955

The Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences was founded in May, 1927, in Hollywood with 36 charter members, including production executives and cinema luminaries. Its aims included a determination to raise the standards of production educationally, culturally and scientifically.

In the years since its inception this nonsubsidized organization has grown to embrace the 12 principal branches of film making. Through these branches almost 2,000 active motion picture members have been gathered from the acting field, the cinematograph group, the executive branch, the film editors division, the music group, the writers, the directors, the sound division, the art directors, the short subject and the public relations fields.

Voting for the Academy Awards of Merit is done by the entire membership with each of the 12 branches creating its own procedure and conducting individual nominations in the manner best suited to its special requirements. The final nominating ballot from each branch is limited to a maximum of five entrants. After nominations have been closed the Academy holds screenings of the nominated films in order that eligible voters can review them. A final ballot is then prepared and sent to the Academy membership. These ballots are marked and returned to Price, Waterhouse and Company, certified public accountants, who prepare the tabulation. The names of the winners are announced only at the annual Academy Awards presentation ceremonies.

QUIGLEY AWARD WINNERS FOR SHOWMANSHIP

Each year Motion Picture Herald, through its Managers' Round Table Department, sponsors awards to leading showmen. The winners are chosen by a committee of judges inclusive of leading executives in motion picture distribution, advertising and publicity, and theatre operation. Motion Picture Industry Council, Inc., of Hollywood is made up of 10 key organizations covering the production branch of the industry. After some months of preliminary discussion, MPIC became operational in March, 1949. The original statement of objectives is as follows: 1—To discuss and act on any problem which is properly the concern of the industry; 2—To promote sound relations among the groups that make up Hollywood. Wages, hours, and any other collective bargaining matters shall not be the concern of this Council; 3—To promote sound and serious understanding of the motion picture industry by the general public.

The preamble to the original charter declares:

"Perhaps no other industry contacts so intimately and significantly as many lives of the world's population as does the motion picture industry of the United States.

"The responsibility of people working within the industry is a responsibility not only to a major economic enterprise, but also to an important social institution. We in motion pictures portray human character and human emotions; we describe cultural patterns; we report information; we interpret individual and social experiences.

"Because of the role we play in public life, we face incalculable risks and a precarious system of trial and error. We are constantly trying to perform the extremely difficult task of interpreting successfully the varied and uncertain likes and dislikes of the motion picture going public at home and abroad.

"We believe that the motion picture industry of the United States has performed generally for the public good and for the public welfare in war and in peace, and that it has made a contribution to America. We seek to continue and expand this good influence of motion pictures.

"In an effort to continue to carry out our responsibilities to the nation and to humanity everywhere, we have organized a Motion Picture Industry Council so that all of us who work in the motion picture industry can seek and discover areas of common agreement to the end that we may move forward toward our objectives with dignity, integrity and conscience."

Past presidents are Dore Schary, Cecil B. de Mille, Ronald Reagan, Roy M. Brewer, Paul Groesse, B. B. Kahane, Allen Rivkin, Gunther R. Lessing and Steve Broidy. Jerry Wald serves as Chairman of the Public Relations Committee.

Why try to sell things the hard way?

When one drink sells itself the easy way!

Haven't you got enough problems without taking on the job of selling a less preferred product? Make life easy! Make money easy! That's why over 80% of all theatres serving beverages feature Coca-Cola! You sell more people faster . . . get bigger volume . . . make more profit. There's no question about it!

Sell Coca-Cola REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

A prominent exhibitor paid us the kind of compliment that means most to us when he put it this way:

"Like most of the exhibitors I know, the trade papers I really read are Quigley Publications—because I have solid confidence in them."

The "solid confidence" of the industry . . . . . we firmly believe that to be the greatest asset that any trade publication can possess. That has been the unswerving aim of Quigley Publication for more than a third of a century.

The Production Code

THE ORIGIN OF THE PRODUCTION CODE

AT MID-YEAR in 1929, while the screen was engaged in the initial adjustments arising out of the acquisition of sound and the spoken word, Martin Quigley, industry trade journal publisher, observed a growing trend of departure from the level of accepted moral standards. The causes were many, dominant among them the influence of both material and precedent from the stage theatre which had come to serve principally sophisticated metropolitan minorities. Along with this he noted, among industry executives, a rising sense of responsibility and a purpose to accept the inherent responsibilities of the revolutionized medium.

After a study of the situation, Mr. Quigley undertook the formulation of a specific program designed to render guidance to producers in the problems due to the moral and social implications of screen material. Reverend Daniel A. Lord, S.J., of St. Louis, a trained moralist with an interest in the theatre, was invited into conference and active collaboration. Late in 1929 the document identified as "The Production Code" was completed.

Mr. Quigley engaged the interest of Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., and in the ensuing January of 1930 the Code idea and document were presented by Mr. Quigley and discussed at a series of meetings of the producers of the organized industry in Hollywood. In a subsequent formal meeting the Production Code was adopted by the Producers Association and its adoption was ratified March 31, 1930, by the board of directors of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., which organization is now known as the Motion Picture Association of America, Inc.

THE CODE:

A CODE TO GOVERN THE MAKING OF MOTION PICTURES: The Reasons Supporting It and the Resolution for Uniform Interpretation: by Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., June 13, 1934.

The Motion Picture Production Code was formulated and formally adopted by the Association of Motion Picture Producers, Inc. (California), and the Motion Picture Association of America, Inc. (New York), in March, 1930.

Motion picture producers recognize the high trust and confidence which have been placed in them by the people of the world and which have made motion pictures a universal form of entertainment.

They recognize their responsibility to the public because of this trust and because entertainment and art are important influences in the life of a nation.

Hence, though regarding motion pictures primarily as entertainment without any explicit purpose of teaching or propaganda, they know that the motion picture within its own field of entertainment may be directly responsible for spiritual or moral progress, for higher types of social life, and for much correct thinking.

During the rapid transition from silent to talking pictures they realized the necessity and the opportunity of subscribing to a Code to govern the production of talking pictures and of reacknowledging this responsibility.

On their part, they ask from the public and from public leaders a sympathetic understanding of their purposes and problems and a spirit of cooperation that will allow them the freedom and opportunity necessary to bring the motion picture to a still higher level of wholesome entertainment for all the people.

GENERAL PRINCIPLES

1. No picture shall be produced which will lower the moral standards of those who see it. Hence the sympathy of the audience shall never be thrown to the side of crime, wrongdoing, evil or sin.

2. Correct standards of life, subject only to the requirements of drama and entertainment, shall be presented.

3. Law, natural or human, shall not be ridiculed, nor shall sympathy be created for its violation.

PARTICULAR APPLICATIONS

I. CRIMES AGAINST THE LAW

These shall never be presented in such a way as to throw sympathy with the crime as against law and justice or to inspire others with a desire for imitation.

1. Murder
   a. The technique of murder must be presented in a way that will not inspire imitation.
   b. Brutal killings are not to be presented in detail.
   c. Revenge in modern times shall not be justified.

2. Methods of Crime should not be explicitly presented.
   a. Theft, robbery, safe-cracking, and dynamiting of trains, mines, buildings, etc., should not be detailed in method.
   b. Arson must be subject to the same safeguards.
   c. The use of firearms should be restricted to essentials.

*3. The illegal drug traffic, and drug addiction, must never be presented.

II. SEX

The sanctity of the institution of marriage and the home shall be upheld. Pictures shall not infer that low forms of sex relationship are the accepted or common thing.

1. Adultery and Illicit Sex, sometimes necessary plot material, must not be explicitly treated, or justified, or presented attractively.

2. Scenes of Passion
   a. These should not be introduced except where they are definitely essential to the plot.
   b. Excessive and lustful kissing, lustful embraces, suggestive postures and gestures are not to be shown.
   c. In general, passion should be treated in such manner as not to stimulate the lower and baser emotions.

3. Seduction or Rape
   a. These should never be more than suggested, and then only when essential for the plot. They must never be shown by explicit method.
   b. They are never the proper subject for comedy.

The treatment of low, disgusting, unpleasant, though not necessarily evil, subjects, should be guided always by the dictates of good taste and a proper regard for the sensibilities of the audience.

IV. OBSCENITY

Obscenity in word, gesture, reference, song, joke, or by suggestion (even when likely to be understood only by part of the audience) is forbidden.

V. PROFANITY

Pointed profanity and every other profane or vulgar expression, however used, are forbidden.

No approval by the Production Code Administration shall be given to the use of words and phrases in motion pictures including, but not limited to, the following:

Pansy
Razzberry (the sound)
S.O.B.
Son-of-a
Tart
Toilet gags
Whore

In the administration of Section V of the Production Code, the Production Code Administration may take cognizance of the fact that the following words and phrases are obviously offensive to the patrons of motion pictures in the United States and more particularly to the patrons of motion pictures in foreign countries: Chink, Dago, Frog, Greaser, Hunkie, Kike, Nigger, Spig, Wop, Yid.

It should also be noted that the words "hell" and "damn," if used without moderation, will be considered offensive by many members of the audience. Their use, therefore, should be governed by the discretion and the prudent advice of the Code Administration.

SPECIAL REGULATIONS ON CRIME IN MOTION PICTURES

RESOLVED (December 20, 1938), that the Board of Director of the Motion Picture Association of America, Inc., hereby ratifies, approves and confirms the interpretations of The Production Code, the practices thereunder, and the resolutions indicating and confirming such interpretations heretofore adopted by the Association of Motion Picture Producers, Inc., all effectuating regulations relative to the treatment of crime in motion pictures, as follows:

1. Details of crime must never be shown and care should be exercised at all times in discussing such details.
2. Action suggestive of wholesale slaughter of human beings, either by criminals in conflict with police, or as between warring factions of criminals, or in public disorder of any kind, will not be allowed.
3. There must be no suggestion, at any time, of excessive brutality.
4. Because of the increase in the number of films in which murder is frequently committed, action showing the taking of human life, even in the mystery stories, is to be cut to the minimum. These frequent presentations of murder tend to lessen regard for the sacredness of life.

††5. Suicide, as a solution of problems occurring in the development of screen drama, is to be discouraged as morally questionable and as bad theatre—unless absolutely necessary for the development of the plot. It should never be justified or glorified, or used to defeat the due processes of law.

6. There must be no display, at any time, of machine guns, sub-machine guns or other weapons generally classified as illegal weapons in the hands of gangsters, or other criminals, and there are to be no off-stage sounds of the repercussions of these guns.
7. There must be no new, unique or trick methods shown for concealing guns.
8. The flaunting of weapons by gangsters, or other criminals, will not be allowed.
9. All discussions and dialogue on the part of gangsters regarding guns should be cut to the minimum.

†10. There must be no scenes, at any time, showing law-enforcing officers dying at the hands of criminals unless such scenes are absolutely necessary to the development of the plot. This includes private detectives and guards for banks, motor trucks, etc.

11. With special reference to the crime of kidnapping—or illegal abduction—such stories are acceptable under the Code only when: (a) the kidnapping or abduction is not the main theme of the story; (b) the person kidnapped is not a child; (c) there are no details of the crime of kidnapping; (d) no profit accrues to the abductors or kidnappers; and (e) where the kidnappers are punished.

It is understood and agreed that the word kidnapping as used in paragraph (11) of these Regulations, is intended to mean abduction, or illegal detention, in modern times, by criminals for ransom.

†The original text read: "Salacious, indecent, or obscene titles shall not be used." The revision on titles was adopted by the MPA board of directors Dec. 3, 1947.

††As amended by the MPA board of directors March 27, 1951. The original text did not include the last sentence.

†Italicized material is an amendment adopted by the MPA board of directors March 27, 1951.

12. Pictures dealing with criminal activities in which minors participate, or to which minors are related, shall not be approved if they incite demoralizing imitation on the part of youth.

††13. No picture shall be approved dealing with the life of a notorious criminal of current or recent times which uses the name, nickname, or alias of such notorious criminal in the film, nor shall a picture be approved if based upon the life of such a notorious criminal unless the character shown in the film be punished for crimes shown in the film as committed by him.

SPECIAL RESOLUTION ON COSTUMES

On October 25, 1939, the Board of Directors of the Motion Picture Association of America, Inc., adopted the following resolution:

RESOLVED that the provisions of Paragraphs 1, 3 and 4 of Sub-Division VI of the Production Code, in their application to costumes, nudity, indecent or undue exposure, and dancing costumes, shall not be interpreted to exclude authentically photographed scenes photographed in a foreign land, of natives of such foreign land, showing native life, if such scenes are a necessary and integral part of a motion picture depicting exclusively such land and native life, provided that no such scenes shall be intrinsically objectionable nor made a part of any motion picture produced in any studio, and provided further that no emphasis shall be made in any scenes of the customs or garb of such natives or in the exploitation thereof.

SPECIAL REGULATIONS ON CRUELTY TO ANIMALS

On December 27, 1940, the Board of Directors of the Motion Picture Association of America, Inc., approved a resolution adopted by the Association of Motion Picture Producers, Inc., reaffirming previous resolutions of the California Association concerning brutality and possible gruesomeness and apparent cruelty to animals:

RESOLVED, by the Board of Directors of the Association of Motion Picture Producers, Inc., that

(1) Hereafter, in the production of motion pictures there shall be no use by the members of the Association of the contrivance or apparatus in connection with animals which is known as the "running W", nor shall any picture submitted to the Production Code Administration be approved if reasonable grounds exist for believing that use of any similar device by the producer of such picture resulted in apparent cruelty to animals; and

(2) Hereafter, in the production of motion pictures by the members of the Association, such members shall, as to any picture involving the use of animals, invite on the lot during such shooting and consult with the authorized representative of the American Humane Association; and

(3) Steps shall be taken immediately by the members of the Association and by the Production Code Administration to require compliance with these resolutions, which shall bear the same relationship to the sections of the Production Code quoted herein as the Association's special regulations re: Crime in Motion Pictures bear to the sections of the Production Code dealing therewith; and it is

FURTHER RESOLVED, that the resolutions of February 19, 1925 and all other resolutions of this Board establishing its policy to prevent all cruelty to animals in the production of motion pictures and reflecting its determination to prevent any such cruelty, be and the same hereby are in all respects reaffirmed.

REASONS SUPPORTING PREAMBLE OF CODE

1. Theatrical motion pictures, that is, pictures intended for the theatre as distinct from pictures intended for churches, schools, lecture halls, educational movements, social reform movements, etc., are primarily to be regarded as ENTERTAINMENT.

Mankind has always recognized the importance of entertainment and its value in rebuilding the bodies and souls of human beings.

But it has always recognized that entertainment can be of a character either HELPFUL or HARMFUL to the human race, and in consequence has clearly distinguished between:

a. Entertainment which tends to improve the race, or at least to re-create and rebuild human beings exhausted with the realities of life; and

b. Entertainment which tends to degrade human beings, or to lower their standards of life and living.

Hence the MORAL IMPORTANCE of entertainment is something which has been universally recognized. It enters intimately into the lives of men and women and affects them closely; it occupies their minds and affections during leisure hours; and ultimately touches the whole of their lives. A man may be judged by his standard of entertainment as easily as by the standard of his work.

††Regulation No. 13 was adopted by the MPA board of directors Dec. 3, 1947.

So correct entertainment raises the whole standard of a nation.

Wrong entertainment lowers the whole living conditions and moral ideas of a race.

Note, for example, the healthy reactions to healthful sports, like baseball, golf; the unhealthy reactions to sports like cock-fighting, bullfighting, bear baiting, etc.

Note, too, the effect on ancient nations of gladiatorial combats, the obscene plays of Roman times, etc.

2. Motion pictures are very important as ART.

Though a new art, possibly a combination art, it has the same object as the other arts, the presentation of human thought, emotion, and experience, in terms of an appeal to the soul through the senses.

Here, as in entertainment, Art enters intimately into the lives of human beings.

Art can be morally good, lifting men to higher levels. This has been done through good music, great painting, authentic fiction, poetry, drama. Art can be morally evil in its effects. This is the case clearly enough with unclean art, indecent books, suggestive drama. The effect on the lives of men and women is obvious.

Note: It has often been argued that art in itself is unmoral, neither good nor bad. This is perhaps true of the THING which is music, painting, poetry, etc. But the thing is the PRODUCT of some person's mind and the intention of that mind was either good or bad morally when it produced the thing. Besides the thing it has its EFFECT upon those who come into contact with it. In both these ways, that is, as a product of a mind and as the cause of definite effects, it has a deep moral significance and an unmistakable moral quality.

Hence: The motion pictures, which are the most popular of modern arts for the masses, have their moral quality from the intention of the minds which produce them and from their effects on the moral lives and reactions of their audiences. This gives them a most important morality.

1. They reproduce the morality of the men who use the pictures as a medium for the expression of their ideas and ideals.

2. They affect the moral standards of those who, through the screen, take in these ideas and ideals.

In the case of the motion pictures, this effect may be particularly emphasized because no art has so quick and so widespread an appeal to the masses. It has become in an incredibly short period the art of the multitudes.

3. The motion picture, because of its importance as entertainment and because of the trust placed in it by the peoples of the world, has special MORAL OBLIGATIONS:

A. Most arts appeal to the mature. This art appeals at once to every class, mature, immature, developed, undeveloped, law abiding, criminal. Music has its grades for different classes; so have literature and drama. This art of the motion picture, combining as it does the two fundamental appeals of looking at a picture and listening to a story at once reaches every class of society.

B. By reason of the mobility of a film and the ease of picture distribution, and because of the possibility of duplicating positives in large quantities, this art reaches places unpenetrated by other forms of art.

C. Because of these two facts, it is difficult to produce films intended for only certain classes of people. The exhibitor's theatres are built for the masses, for the cultivated and the rude, the mature and the immature, the self-respecting and the criminal. Films, unlike books and music, can with difficulty be confined to certain selected groups.

D. The latitude given to film material cannot, in consequence, be as wide as the latitude given to book material. In addition:

   a. A book describes; a film vividly presents. One presents on a cold page; the other by apparently living people.

   b. A book reaches the mind through words merely; a film reaches the eyes and ears through the reproduction of actual events.

   c. The reaction of a reader to a book depends largely on the keenness of the reader's imagination; the reaction to a film depends on the vividness of presentation.

   Hence many things which might be described or suggested in a book could not possibly be presented in a film.

E. This is also true when comparing the film with the newspaper.

   a. Newspapers present by description, films by actual presentation.

   b. Newspapers are after the fact and present things as having taken place; the film gives the events in the process of enactment and with the apparent reality of life.

F. Everything possible in a play is not possible in a film.

   a. Because of the larger audience of the film, and its consequential mixed character. Psychologically, the larger the audience, the lower the moral mass resistance to suggestion.

   b. Because through light, enlargement of character, presentation, scenic emphasis, etc., the screen story is brought closer to the audience than the play.

c. The enthusiasm for and interest in the film actors and actresses, developed beyond anything of the sort in history, makes the audience largely sympathetic toward the characters they portray and the stories in which they figure. Hence the audience is more ready to confuse actor and actress and the characters they portray, and it is most receptive of the emotions and ideals presented by their favorite stars.

G. Small communities, remote from sophistication and from the hardening process which often takes place in the ethical and moral standards of groups in larger cities, are easily and readily reached by any sort of film.

H. The grandeur of mass settings, large action, spectacular features, etc., affects and arouses more intensely the emotional side of the audience.

In general, the mobility, popularity, accessibility, emotional appeal, vividness, straightforward presentation of fact in the film make for more intimate contact with a larger audience and for greater emotional appeal.

Hence the larger moral responsibilities of the motion pictures.

REASONS UNDERLYING THE GENERAL PRINCIPLES

1. No picture shall be produced which will lower the moral standards of those who see it. Hence the sympathy of the audience should never be thrown to the side of crime, wrongdoing, evil or sin.

This is done:

1. When evil is made to appear attractive or alluring, and good is made to appear unattractive.
2. When the sympathy of the audience is thrown on the side of crime, wrongdoing, evil, sin. The same thing is true of a film that would throw sympathy against goodness, honor, innocence, purity or honesty.

NOTE: Sympathy with a person who sins is not the same as sympathy with the sin or crime of which he is guilty. We may feel sorry for the plight of the murderer or even understand the circumstances which led him to his crime. We may not feel sympathy with the wrong which he has done.

The presentation of evil is often essential for art or fiction or drama.

This in itself is not wrong provided:

a. That evil is not presented alluringly. Even if later in the film the evil is condemned or punished, it must not be allowed to appear so attractive that the audience's emotions are drawn to desire or approve so strongly that later the condemnation is forgotten and only the apparent joy of the sin remembered.

b. That throughout, the audience feels sure that evil is wrong and good is right.

2. Correct standards of life shall, as far as possible, be presented. A wide knowledge of life and of living is made possible through the film. When right standards are consistently presented, the motion picture exercises the most powerful influences. It builds character, develops right ideals, inculcates correct principles, and all this in attractive story form.

If motion pictures consistently hold up for admiration high types of characters and present stories that will affect lives for the better, they can become the most powerful natural force for the improvement of mankind.

3. Law, natural or human, shall not be ridiculed, nor shall sympathy be created for its violation.

By natural law is understood the law which is written in the hearts of all mankind, the great underlying principles of right and justice dictated by conscience.

By human law is understood the law written by civilized nations.

1. The presentation of crimes against the law is often necessary for the carrying out of the plot. But the presentation must not throw sympathy with the crime as against the law nor with the criminal as against those who punish him.
2. The courts of the land should not be presented as unjust. This does not mean that a single court may not be represented as unjust, much less that a single court official must not be presented this way. But the court system of the country must not suffer as a result of this presentation.

REASONS UNDERLYING PARTICULAR APPLICATIONS

1. Sin and evil enter into the story of human beings and hence in themselves are valid dramatic material.

2. In the use of this material, it must be distinguished between sins which repel by their very nature, and sins which often attract.

a. In the first class come murder, most theft, many legal crimes, lying, hypocrisy, cruelty, etc.

b. In the second class come sex sins, sins and crimes of apparent heroism, such as banditry, daring thefts, leadership in evil, organized crime, revenge, etc.

The first class needs far less care in treatment, as sins and crimes of this class are naturally unattractive. The audience instinctively condemns all such and is repelled.

Hence the important objective must be to avoid the hardening of the audience, especially of those who are young and impressionable, to the thought and fact of crime. People can become accustomed even to murder, cruelty, brutality and repellent crimes, if these are too frequently repeated.

The second class needs great care in handling, as the response of human nature to their appeal is obvious. This is treated more fully below.

3. A careful distinction can be made between films intended for general distribution, and films intended for use in theatres restricted to a limited audience. Themes and plots quite appropriate for the latter would be altogether out of place and dangerous in the former.

NOTE: The practice of using a general theatre and limiting its patronage during the showing of a certain film to "Adults Only" is not completely satisfactory and is only partially effective.

However, maturer minds may easily understand and accept without harm subject matter in plots which do younger people positive harm.

Hence: If there should be created a special type of theatre, catering exclusively to an adult audience, for plays of this character (plays with problem themes, difficult discussions and maturer treatment) it would seem to afford an outlet, which does not now exist, for pictures unsuitable for general distribution but permissible for exhibitions to a restricted audience.

I. CRIMES AGAINST THE LAW

The treatment of crimes against the law must not:

1. Teach methods of crime.
2. Inspire potential criminals with a desire for imitation.
3. Make criminals seem heroic and justified.

Revenge in modern times shall not be justified. In lands and ages of less developed civilization and moral principles, revenge may sometimes be presented. This would be the case especially in places where no law exists to cover the crime because of which revenge is committed.

Because of its evil consequences, the drug traffic should not be presented in any form. The existence of the trade should not be brought to the attention of audiences.

II. SEX

Out of regard for the sanctity of marriage and the home, the triangle, that is, the love of a third party for one already married, needs careful handling. The treatment should not throw sympathy against marriage as an institution.

Scenes of passion must be treated with an honest acknowledgement of human nature and its normal reactions. Many scenes cannot be presented without arousing dangerous emotions on the part of the immature, the young or the criminal classes.

Even within the limits of pure love, certain facts have been universally regarded by lawmakers as outside the limits of safe presentation.

In the case of impure love, the love which society has always regarded as wrong and which has been banned by divine law, the following are important:

1. Impure love must not be presented as attractive and beautiful.
2. It must not be the subject of comedy or farce or treated as material for laughter.
3. It must not be presented in such a way as to arouse passion or morbid curiosity on the part of the audience.
4. It must not be made to seem right and permissible.
5. In general, it must not be detailed in method and manner.

III. Vulgarity; IV. Obscenity; V. Profanity

Hardly need further explanation than is contained in the Code.

VI. COSTUMES

General principles:

1. The effect of nudity or semi-nudity upon the normal man or woman, and much more upon the young and upon immature persons, has been honestly recognized by all lawmakers and moralists.
2. Hence the fact that the nude or semi-nude body may be beautiful does not make its use in the films moral. For, in addition to its beauty, the effect of the nude or semi-nude body on the normal individual must be taken into consideration.
3. Nudity or semi-nudity used simply to put a "punch" into a picture comes under the head of immoral actions. It is immoral in its effect on the average audience.
4. Nudity can never be permitted as being necessary for the plot. Semi-nudity must not result in undue or indecent exposures.
5. Transparent or translucent materials and silhouette are frequently more suggestive than actual exposure.

VII. DANCES

Dancing in general is recognized as an art and as a beautiful form of expressing human emotions.

But dances which suggest or represent sexual actions, whether performed solo or with two or more, dances intended to excite the emotional reaction of an audience, dances with movement of the breasts, excessive body movements while the feet are stationary, violate decency and are wrong.

VIII. RELIGION

The reason why ministers of religion may not be comic characters or villains is simply because the attitude taken toward them may easily become the attitude taken toward religion in general. Religion is lowered in the minds of the audience because of the lowering of the audience's respect for a minister.

IX. LOCATIONS

Certain places are so closely and thoroughly associated with sexual life or with sexual sin that their use must be carefully limited.

X. NATIONAL FEELINGS

The just rights, history, and feelings of any nation are entitled to most careful consideration and respectful treatment.

XI. TITLES

As the title of a picture is the brand on that particular type of goods, it must conform to the ethical practices of all such honest business.

XII. SPECIAL SUBJECTS

Such subjects are occasionally necessary for the plot. Their treatment must never offend good taste nor injure the sensibilities of an audience.

The use of liquor should never be excessively presented. In scenes from American life, the necessities of plot and proper characterization alone justify its use. And in this case, it should be shown with moderation.

RESOLUTION FOR UNIFORM INTERPRETATION

as amended June 13, 1934

1. When requested by production managers, the Motion Picture Association of America, Incorporated, shall secure any facts, information or suggestions concerning the probable reception of stories or the manner in which in its opinion they may best be treated.

2. Each production manager shall submit in confidence a copy of each or any script to the Production Code Administration of the Motion Picture Association of America, Incorporated (and of the Association of Motion Picture Producers, Inc., California). The Production Code Administration will give the production manager for his guidance such confidential advice and suggestions as experience, research, and information indicate, designating wherein in its judgment the script departs from the provisions of the Code, or wherein from experience or knowledge it is believed that exception will be taken to the story or treatment.

3. Each production manager of a company belonging to the Motion Picture Association of America, Incorporated, and any producer proposing to distribute and/or distributing his picture through the facilities of any member of the Motion Picture Association of America, Incorporated, shall submit to such Production Code Administration every picture he produces before the negative goes to the laboratory for printing. Said Production Code Administration, having seen the picture, shall inform the production manager in writing whether in its opinion the picture conforms or does not conform to the Code, stating specifically wherein either by theme, treatment or incident, the picture violates the provisions of the Code. In such latter event, the picture shall not be released until the changes indicated by the Production Code Administration have been made; provided, however, that the production manager may appeal from such opinion of said Production Code Administration, so indicated in writing, to the Board of Directors of the Motion Picture Association of America, Inc., whose finding shall be final, and such production manager and company shall be governed accordingly.

The Advertising Code Administration is a department of Motion Picture Association of America, Inc. Members of the Advertising Advisory Council are the directors of advertising and publicity of the principal motion picture companies. They are charged with the administration of an "Advertising Code," voluntarily adopted by members on June 6, 1930. The official Code follows:

AN ADVERTISING CODE: To Reflect the High Quality of Motion Pictures

The purpose of the Advertising Code is to apply to motion picture advertising, publicity and exploitation, within their range, the high principles which the Production Code applies to the content of motion pictures.

The provisions of the Advertising Code shall apply to pressbooks, newspaper, magazine and trade paper advertising, publicity material, trailers, posters, lobby displays and all other outdoor displays, novelty distribution, radio copy and every form of motion picture exploitation.

We urge all motion picture producers, distributors, and exhibitors, and their advertising agents, whether affiliated with the undersigned or not, to adhere to these principles; and for ourselves, we pledge compliance with these principles without reservation.

1. We subscribe to a code of business ethics based upon truth, honesty and integrity. All motion picture advertising shall: (a) conform to fact, (b) scrupulously avoid all misrepresentation.
2. Good taste shall be the guiding rule of motion picture advertising.
3. Illustrations and text in advertising shall faithfully represent the pictures themselves.
4. No false or misleading statements shall be used directly, or implied by type arrangements or by distorted quotations.
5. No text or illustration shall ridicule or tend to ridicule any race, religion or religious faith; no illustration of a character in clerical garb shall be shown in any but a respectful manner.
6. The history, institutions and nationals of all countries shall be represented with fairness.
7. Profanity and vulgarity shall be avoided.
8. Pictorial and copy treatment of officers of the law shall not be of such a nature as to undermine their authority.
9. Specific details of crime, inciting, imitation, shall not be used.
10. Motion picture advertisers shall be guided by the provision of the Production Code that the use of liquor in American life shall be restricted to the necessities of characterization and plot.
11. Nudity with meretricious purpose and salacious postures shall not be used; and clothed figures shall not be represented in such manner as to be offensive or contrary to good taste or morals.
12. Court actions relating to censoring of pictures, or other censorship disputes, are not to be capitalized in advertising or publicity.
13. †Titles of source materials or occupations or names of characters on which motion pictures may be based should not be exploited in advertising or upon the screen if such titles or such names are in conflict with the provisions of the Production Code affecting titles.
14. ††No text or illustration shall be used which capitalizes, directly or by implication, upon misconduct of a person connected with a motion picture thus advertised.

Regulations for the Administration of the Advertising Code

(The following Regulations were adopted by the Board of Directors of the Motion Picture Association of America, Inc., April 22, 1948, and June 21, 1950.)

1. These regulations are applicable to all members of the Motion Picture Association of America, Inc. (hereinafter referred to as the "Association"), subsidiaries of a member producing or distributing motion pictures, and to all producers and distributors of motion pictures with respect to each picture for which the Association has granted its Certificate of Approval, pursuant to an application therefor.

2. The term "advertising" as used herein shall be deemed to mean all forms of motion picture advertising and exploitation, and ideas therefor, including, among other things, but without limitation thereto, the following: press books; still photographs; newspaper, magazine and trade paper advertising; publicity copy and art intended for use in press books or otherwise intended for general distribution in printed form or for theatre use; trailers; posters, lobby displays and other outdoor displays; advertising accessories, including heralds, throwaways, etc.; novelties; copy for exploitation tie-ups; radio and television copy.

The term "Company" as used herein shall be deemed to mean any person, firm or corporation.

3. All advertising shall be submitted to the Advertising Code Administration of the Association for approval before use, and shall not be used in any way until so submitted and approved as hereinafter set forth. All advertising shall be submitted in duplicate with the exception of press books, which shall be submitted in triplicate.

4. The Advertising Code Administration shall proceed as promptly as it finds feasible to approve or disapprove the advertising submitted on the basis of whether it complies with the Advertising Code.

The Advertising Code Administration shall stamp its approval on one copy of all advertising approved and return such stamped copy to the Company submitting the same. If the Advertising Code Administration disapproves of any advertising, there shall be stamped the word "Disapproved" on one copy thereof, which shall be returned to the Company submitting the same; or, if the Advertising Code Administration so desires, it may return the same with suggestions for such changes or corrections in the advertising as will cause it to be approved.

5. After advertising for a motion picture shall have been approved by the Advertising Code Administration, if circumstances arise, either before or after the picture's release, which in the judgment of the Administrator seem to require the withdrawal of all, or any portion of such previously approved advertising, then, after consultation with the Advertising Advisory Council, he shall immediately file a written report with the President and Secretary of the Association (a) setting forth the situation existing at the time such prior approval was granted for such advertising, (b) reciting the intervening circumstances with resultant changes in the situation, (c) listing the reasons why in the opinion of the Administrator all or a designated portion of the advertising previously approved should be withdrawn and (d) certifying that if such advertising were then being presented to him for the first time, it would not be approved by him under the Advertising Code for stated reasons.

If the President of the Association (or a Vice-President of the Association in the absence of the President), upon receipt of such report from the Advertising Code Administration, is of the opinion that the situation presented is sufficiently serious to justify consideration by the Board of Directors, the Secretary of the Association shall be instructed to call immediately an emergency meeting of the Board at which meeting the Board shall sit as a Board of Appeal with adequate opportunity for the producer and/or distributor of the motion picture to appear in person or through a duly authorized representative and present reasons orally or in writing, or both, as to why the prior approval of the advertising should be affirmed, and with adequate opportunity for the Administrator of the Advertising Code to appear and present reasons, either orally or in writing, or both, as to why in his judgment all or a designated portion of such previously approved advertising should be withdrawn.

Thereafter, the Board, meeting in executive session with the producer and/or distributor of the picture not voting, shall determine by vote of a majority of the Directors present and voting, whether all or any portion of the previously approved advertising shall be withheld from use and/or withdrawn, and such action of the Board of Directors shall be final and binding upon the producer and/or distributor of said film.

When any previously approved advertising for a motion picture is withdrawn pursuant to action of the Board hereunder, the company withdrawing same shall be reimbursed the unrecoverable portion of its out-of-pocket expenditures for such advertising to the extent deemed equitable and proper under all the circumstances by the Board. The amount of such reimbursement shall be prorated among all members of the Association including the company affected on the same basis as dues to the Assocation are currently paid.

If neither the producer nor the distributor of said film is a member of the Association, then the non-member withdrawing such advertising shall be reimbursed the unrecoverable portion of its out-of-pocket expenditures for such advertising by the members of the Association to the extent deemed equitable and proper under all the circumstances by the Board.

6. Appeals. Any Company whose advertising has been disapproved may appeal from the decision of the Advertising Code Administration, as follows:

Within ten days after its advertising has been disapproved, it shall serve notice of such appeal in writing on the Director of the Advertising Code Administration and on the Secretary of the Association. Said notice of appeal shall set forth the grounds upon which the appeal is taken. Within a reasonable time after the receipt of such notice by the Director of the Advertising Code Administration and the Secretary of the Association, the President or, in the event of his absence from the country or his inability to act, a board consisting of three members of the Executive Committee of the Board of Directors of the Association appointed by him, shall hold a hearing to pass upon the appeal. Oral and written evidence may be introduced by the Company and the Advertising Code Administration. Oral argument shall be had at the hearing and written memoranda or briefs may be submitted by the Company and the Advertising Code Administration. The President or said board, as the case may be, may admit such evidence as is deemed relevant, material and competent, and may determine the nature and length of the oral argument and of the written memoranda or briefs to be submitted. The President, or said board, as the case may be, shall decide the appeal as expeditiously as possible and shall notify the Company and the Director of the Advertising Code Administration in writing of the decision. Such decision shall be final.

A company appealing from a decision of the Advertising Code Administration under Section 14 of the Advertising Code shall have the right, by written notice to the Secretary of the Association, to appeal directly to the Board of Directors of the Association, whose decision shall be final. The provisions relating to evidence, argument and written memoranda or briefs, set forth in these Regulations shall apply to such appeals.

7. Any Company to which these regulations are applicable, which publishes, or makes available for sale or lease, or which in any way uses advertising without prior approval as hereinabove provided, may be brought up on charges before the Board of Directors by the Director of the Advertising Code Administration, or by any of the following officers of the Association, viz.: the President, a Vice-President, the Secretary or the Treasurer. The Company shall be entitled to receive a written statement of the charges and to a hearing before the Board of Directors. Within a reasonable time after the receipt of said statement of charges by the Company, the Board of Directors of the Association shall meet in a Special meeting to hear and pass upon such charges. Oral and written evidence may be introduced by the Company and by the Advertising Code Administration. Oral argument shall be had and written memoranda or briefs may be submitted by the Company and by the Advertising Code Administration. The Board of Directors may admit such evidence as it deems relevant, material and competent, and may determine the nature and length of the oral argument and of the written memoranda or briefs to be submitted. The Board of Directors, by a majority vote of those present, shall decide the matter as expeditiously as possible.

If the Board of Directors finds that the Company has published, or made available for sale or lease or in any way used advertising without prior approval as hereinabove set forth, the Board may take one or more of the following actions:

(a) Direct the Production Code Administration to void and revoke the Certificate of Approval granted by the Association for the picture so advertised and require the removal of the Association's seal from all prints of said picture, and the Production Code Administration shall thereupon do so;

(b) Require the Company, if a member of the Association, to pay to the Association as and for liquidated damages, not more than $100 for each publication, lease, sale or use of an unapproved item of advertising which has been published, made available for lease or sale or used, provided, however, that the total sum assessed for advertising relative to one motion picture may not exceed the sum of $25,000. The amount so assessed and collected shall be used by the Association for expenses incurred in the administration of the Advertising Code. It is recognized that any violation of the Advertising Code will disrupt the stability of the industry and cause serious damage to the Association and its members which cannot be definitively computed.

The decision of the Board of Directors shall be final.

8. Each Company shall assume responsibility for seeing that all its employees and agents comply with these regulations.

EXECUTIVE SECRETARY
VERY REV. MSGR. THOMAS F. LITTLE, S.T.L.

ASSISTANT EXECUTIVE SECRETARY
REV. PAUL J. HAYES

In October, 1933, during the nineteenth meeting of the National Conference of Catholic Charities held in New York, his Excellency the Most Rev. Amleto Giovanni Cicognani, Apostolic Delegate to the United States, issued a challenge to the Catholics of this country to take action in the matter of "immoral" motion pictures. At the annual meeting of the Bishops in Washington, November, 1933, the Bishops' Committee on Motion Pictures was formed.

Present members of the Bishops' Committee are: Most. Rev. William A. Scully, Bishop of Albany, chairman; Most Rev. Bryan J. McEntegart, Rector, Catholic U.; Most Rev. Charles H. Helmsing, Auxiliary Bishop of St. Louis; Most Rev. Timothy Manning, Auxiliary Bishop of Los Angeles; Most Rev. Hubert M. Newell, Bishop of Cheyenne, Wyoming.

The Legion of Decency states, "It seeks to obtain and maintain fundamental moral standards on the screen. It desires a screen which will not endanger the moral welfare of children and citizens and, therefore, not jeopardize the moral welfare of our country. It issues, regularly, classifications of films in terms of Christian morality. It presents these moral ratings to the public in order that the public may be informed of the moral character of films currently exhibited, and, thereby, be enabled to act wisely and choose for themselves, and for those entrusted to their care, screen entertainment which will not threaten moral and spiritual welfare."

In February, 1936, the Bishops' Committee on Motion Pictures transferred the responsibility for the review and classification of motion pictures to the archdiocese of New York. The Motion Picture Department of the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae, which had been reviewing motion pictures for over a decade and had, over this period, published a list of "Endorsed Motion Pictures," was officially designated as the reviewing and classifying group of the Legion of Decency. The Motion Picture Department of the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae acts under the chairmanship of Mrs. James F. Looram. At the present time the reviewing staff of the Motion Picture Department of the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae is comprised of 53 members.

The Very Rev. Msgr. John J. McClafferty, as executive secretary of the Bishops' Committee on Motion Pictures, was in charge of the New York office from its inception until his appointment, in June, 1947, as dean of the School of Social Service of Catholic University.

The Legion issues bi-weekly a list of the moral classifications of current feature pictures. This list is distributed to the Catholic press throughout the United States through the National Catholic Welfare Conference News Service. Information on moral evaluation of films is given to the secular press as occasion requires. The Legion list of film ratings may be obtained by subscription, $2.50 a year, third class mail, $3.50 a year, first class mail.

The Legion also distributes the moral classifications to organizations comparable to it throughout the world. Catholic groups in England, France, Italy, Spain, Germany, others in the Near and Far East and in Central and South America also receive the evaluations of the Legion.

From October 1954, to October, 1955, the National Legion of Decency reviewed 327 feature motion pictures. Of the total number of films reviewed, 94 were rated as Class A—Section I—Morally Unobjectionable for General Patronage; 115 were rated as Class A—Section II—Morally Unobjectionable for Adults; 110 were rated as Class B—Morally Objectionable in Part for all; 8 were rated as Class C—Condemned.

THE BRITISH YEAR IN REVIEW

by PETER BURNUP

LONDON, July, 1956

IN the course of 1955, the last available time of record, a gross amount of £105,830,000 was paid into Britian's 4,483 motion picture theatres: namely, a bare 4 per cent or just over £4 million below the all-time high recorded in 1954. After the payment of entertainment tax and what is known as the Eady Levy, 23.1 per cent of that immense gross—namely, £24,465,000—went to distributors as film hire.

In outward seeming, Britain's film industry has an air of surprising resilience, well equipped to sustain the buffets of Television's assault. Certainly, the country's theatres remain Hollywood's most lucrative market. Nevertheless, behind that facade of seeming stability lies one single circumstance which already has led to a condition of illiquidity in the entire industry and threatens, indeed, catastrophe; as Eric Johnston has described it, "the debilitating, discriminatory, depressing" Entertainment Tax.

Few authorities abroad appreciate the crushing burden of taxation the industry here is called upon to bear or the conditions of the incidence of the tax. In 1955, no less a sum than £33,425,000, representing 31 per cent of gross takings and more than 50 per cent of the net, was collected from the cinemas as entertainment tax and without expense to the Exchequer.

That happened in the face of a continuing recession at the box office and at a time when exhibitors nevertheless were called upon to meet rising costs in the shape of increased wages and the like and to embark on heavy capital charges arising out of the installation of new apparatus in order to retain public interest.

Observers overseas may well regard the conception and melancholy history of the tax as another example of characteristic inconsistency in British political thinking. The tax was first imposed during the 1914-18 war by the then Chancellor of the Exchequer, Reginald McKenna, who described it in the House of Commons as "a temporary measure, to be abolished when the war is won". Successive Governments have not only failed to implement that pledge but in progressive stages have enlarged the tax to its present proportions, which have forced many houses—particularly smaller ones—to close; with many others surviving only by "miscellaneous income" derived from ancillary sales and the like. But the tax is now seen, more appositely, to have taken a savage toll of the production side also of the industry here.

Notoriously, no film production industry, however powerful or well-organised, can hope to survive in present conditions with domestic revenues only; an axiom which applies particularly to British production.

Even with the protection of Quota, the local producer here finds himself faced ironically with his keenest competitor in the home market. For—as the Producers' Association claims—Hollywood "with the inestimable advantage of a common language is able to exhibit her films freely in this country, without the considerable cost of dubbing into a foreign language". And the unconscionable rate of tax, so the producers also claim, has added in intolerable fashion to that existing handicap.

A slightly inglorious aura admittedly attends certain passages in the story of British production since the first fine rapture prevailing during and immediately after World War II. Stemming directly, so it is said, from those ever-to-be-condemned Dalton duties and the subsequent over-stretching of production resources, the studios found themselves by 1948 in a condition of chaos and financial disaster.

So that Government felt constrained to offer hastily devised palliatives against the chill wind of financial ruin in the shape of the British Film Production Fund—the so-called Eady Levy—and the National Film Finance Corporation. The latter device led to the loss of vast sums of public money and the authoritative Times in December, 1955, posed the question as to whether the British film industry was essential for aesthetic, social, trade or political reasons?

British films, generally, still find themselves unable to pay their way even with the aid of palliatives. The most stringent economies in production—so producers claim—have not offset the increased cost of making films in colour, the development of new techniques to meet growing competition from television, and the ever rising cost of film stock, other materials and wages. But, the producers—in common with exhibitors—also maintain that a suitable remission in the tax would restore a proper equilibrium to their operations.

In the course of a detailed and entirely objective inquiry into the financial structure of the industry, carried out by three of the country's leading accountants, it was established that after making a reasonable allowance for return on capital, exhibition shows at the present time a shortfall of at least £10 million per annum, in spite of the fact that it provides cheap entertainment for in excess of 20 million film-goers a week; and that British production required an additional income of £3.8 million to avoid losses and produce a reasonable profit.

Significantly, the Government's own financial advisers in the Customs and Excise Department did not dispute the figures and a claim, accordingly, was presented to the Chancellor of the Exchequer (and allowing for the continuing fall in attendance) that the tax should be reduced in 1956-7 from an estimated £33 million to £13 million.

Through no default on the part of the organisers of the industry's tax remission claim, but by an unhappy catenation of chance the lodgement of the claim was singularly mis-timed. The whole design of Chancellor of the Exchequer Harold Macmillan's budget was to place the nation under a curb of austerity unprecedented even in the darkest days of the war. All branches of the industry could do nothing in the face of national necessity but accept the Governmental edict and prepare their strategy of another campaign a year hence. But there was a glimmer of hope.

With his Finance Bill ultimately secured in the House of Commons, Mr. Macmillan permitted himeslf to concede the equity of the industry's claim in categorial terms. He was speaking at the conclusion of a debate on the proposal that stage plays and similar performances should be entirely exempt from the tax, although his carefully chosen words clearly related also to other claimants for tax relief.

The Chancellor then proceeded to give an explicit pledge to examine the structure of the tax. He said: "I will certainly examine the tax structure carefully. It will have to be remodelled. It could not stand up in its existing form to the serious criticism that has been levelled against it. It would be a claimant for some relief when the time came and I hope that will be in the next budget.

"Some parts of the tax structure require refashioning and remodelling. I hope that this will be the last occasion on which it will be necessary for me, or any other Treasury Minister, to have to defend the tax on the living theatre or the entertainment tax in its present form.

"I undertake to enter into a complete review of the tax and, if it is my duty to present it, I propose to keep the inquiry under my own hands and to take charge of it myself."

Trade leaders see in the Chancellor's pledge the first fruits of their hard fought fight for tax remission. The campaign will continue and the Chancellor's momentous pledge—for that is how film men here regard it—brought up again well in advance of next April's budget.

But the year 1957 will be the date for decision and destiny in the motion picture business here, not only by reason of the tax and the vital necessity of its remission in part at least, but for other considerations the resolution of which must inevitably set the shape and pattern of the industry for years to come.

In the course of the year Parliament must consider whether or not and in what form the National Film Finance Corporation shall continue. Decision also must be taken in regard to the continuance and in what shape of the British Film Production Fund—the outcome of the so-called Eady Plan—which up to this time depends exclusively on the goodwill of exhibitors. Moreover, in the following year, the present Cinematograph Films Act which regulates the Quota expires.

In a joint statement, the six trade unions operating in the industry advocate legislation designed to end what they allege to be American domination of the market.

The unions repeat an old argument to the effect that the film industry is a dollar-saving industry, both negatively and positively; that is, it saves dollars to the extent to which American films are not imported and it earns dollars to the extent to which British films are distributed in dollar earning countries.

Films, too, the unions assert, unlike many other industries, are almost entirely a non-import consuming industry; that is, the industry does not have to import raw materials such as steel or iron ore, etc. in order to produce the final product. All the industry needs, so the slightly platitudinous argument runs, is raw stock, the import cost of which is relatively negligible.

The Unions advocate the continuing of both the Eady Levy and the Finance Corporation, albeit—notably in the case of the latter—on greatly enlarged scale. They want the Corporation to have powers to acquire and run a circuit of theatres equal in size and booking power to the present main circuits. But it is in regard to that alleged domination of Hollywood that the left-wing and hidebound doctrinaires of the unions' socialists produce their most revolutionary recommendations.

The melancholy train of disaster which ensued on the Socialist Administration's efforts to sustain a failing production industry here—in particular the notorious Dalton duties—will be familiar to Board of Trade officials. The unions' proposals—couched though they be in cloud-cuckoo form—will undoubtedly in due course be pressed on the present Government by the Socialist Opposition. It seems likely, however, that the president of the Board of Trade will be more disposed to heed the submissions made to him by less visionary sections of the industry; namely exhibitors and producers.

A total re-orientation of exhibitor thinking in regard to British production has developed in the last few years. Theatre-men now accept as axiomatic the necessity of a healthy production business here, if only as a buttress against a 100 per cent imported product with all its consequences of unchecked film-hire. In their experience also—as has been shown in MOTION PICTURE HERALD's box office survey—the better British picture pays off more handsomely at the box office than the choicer Hollywood product. So, in its submission to the Board of Trade the Exhibitors' Association is found advocating the continuance not only of the Quota but the Eady Levy, although with reservations in regard to the latter.

The levy is made on admissions to theatres at a rate varying from ¼d. to 1¼d. per seat, according to price scales. The yield—i.e. the gross amount paid to producers out of the British Film Production Fund—currently runs about £2½ million annually. But a recent investigation into the audited accounts of producers, before the crediting of receipts from the BFPF, disclosed a deficiency of £3.7 million. So that, even with the benefit of "Eady" production showed an over-all shortfall in excess of £1 million.

In the words of John Davis, speaking as president of the British Film Producers' Association: "We are facing grave difficulties. The first, of course, is the vital need to obtain a guarantee of the continuation of the British Film Production Fund. Unless producers can be sure, within what is now a matter of two or three months, that an adequate Production Fund will be available to them in some form after October, 1957, British production inevitably must now start to contract."

Integrated with the problems of Quota and the Production Fund is a development which vexes seriously Anglo-American trade relations; namely, the continuing expansion here of American production interests.

Says militant John Davis: "At the present time American production in England is greatly increasing and it is this increase which is so disturbing to British picture makers. . . . I am confident that it will not be in the best interest of this country or of British film production to leave things as they are. An equitable solution to the problem must and can be found."

Producers and other interested parties here are still found alleging that by some sort of conspiracy British pictures generally are kept off theatre screens in America. Eric Johnston has denounced the allegation as an "unadulterated myth" and reminds British distributors that it takes selling, exploitation, tough, hard, constant showmanship to get patrons into theatres.

In a highly confused and anxious situation, the overseas selling of British film equipment shines with a gleam of comforting glory. In the year 1955, exports of equipment reached a record total of £2,267,911; more than £250,000 above the previous highest total achieved in 1952.

General Conditions and Outlook: The revolution that outcasted Peron's regime in September last, has also extended its beneficial influence, as it can be easily assumed to the show business, and one of its first consequences has been that many of the regulations that used to difficult the free development of this industry, are gradually disappearing. One of the first steps of the new government has been to eliminate all restrictions that used to hinder the free importation of films and actually, all companies may import such films as they deem convenient, regardless its origin. The blocking of funds has also been released as of October 27 last onwards, and the dollars for remittances may be purchased freely at the prevailing daily rate. The protective laws which had converted the argentine film industry in one of the most favoured in the entire world is now under consideration of the Film Board and substantial reforms are expected, to an extent which has worried the local producers who feel they are about to lose the privileges that they have had up to now. On the other hand, the exhibitors have obtained already certain slight victories such as to request 75% instead of 60% of what foreign films income, as up to now, to hold over subsequent weeks for argentine films, making it thus more difficult the permanence of a local film for longer runs. The exhibitors have also refused to renew an agreement which was forced upon them by the old regime, thru which they were compelled to add a surcharge of $0.60, paid by the public, destined for charity purposes and "fomentation of the argentine film industry." Last word, however, has not been said yet and the producers are trying by all means to have this or even a lesser surcharge reinstalled. Another of the direct consequences of the revolution in the film business has been the boom in cinemascope houses. When the revolution broke out in September there existed only four houses equipped for Cinemascope; today there are already 80 and they are constantly increasing. Entrance fee remains still frozen, and the prices, deducted already the $0.60 surcharge abovementioned, is actually $5.80 for regular films and $9.40 for Cinemascope and Vistavision films. The dollar actually is $37.50 pesos.

AUSTRALIA

Number of theatres in operation: 1731 plus 40 touring situations. Australia's 35mm, seating capacity is 1,198,896. There are 107 fixed 16mm. shows and 19 touring circuits.

Number of features passed by the censor in 1955: 412. From the USA—223; from the UK—104, from other countries—85.

Feature Production in 1955: In the 35mm field, the Chips Rafferty-Lee Robinson unit (tied in with the French company, Disci Films) finished shooting "Walk Into Paradise" in New Guinea. Film was shot in Eastman Color in English and French versions. London Films and 20th Century-Fox combined to make "Smiley," starring Ralph Richardson, with an Australian cast including Chips Rafferty; Anthony Kimmins produced.

Two notable 35mm shorts were produced in 1955: "Melbourne-Olympic City," in CinemaScope and Eastman Color, made by Stanley Hawes's Dept. of Interior unit and "Proud Heritage," made in Eastman Color for the NSW Dept. of Education by Ken Hall of Cinesound Productions. Jack Allan continued to produce his "Australian Diary" shorts for the Commonwealth Government.

Commonwealth-Filmcraft Laboratories has installed plant for processing and copying Eastman Color film—a big progressive step for Australian production.

In the 16mm field, the Shell Film Unit, under producer John Heyer, has continued to be active, while Kingcroft Productions have made several noteworthy films on primary industries, including one on soil conservation.

Ealing is going to make "Shiralee" here and Warwick Productions will film an Australian subject in conjunction with Charles Chauvel later in the year, for Columbia. Chauvel is currently busy in the west making 13 half-hour subjects for the BBC television. He is shooting in 16mm Kodachrome.

Censorship: During the year there were 412 feature-length films imported, an increase of 11 over the preceding year: 223 from the US (a decrease of 24); 104 from the UK (10 decrease) and 85 from other countries (increase of 45). Three films were rejected; none were rejected last year. 212 features were classified as Suitable for General Exhibition; 197 as Not Suitable for Children Under 16. There was a sharp drop in "General" class pictures, a drop which the Censor hoped would be "of a temporary nature."

16mm film imports during 1955 increased by 258 and footage by 444,796 feet and while in the 9.5 and 8mm fields the number of films decreased by 176, the number of reels imported and the footage increased by 1914 and 51,518 feet respectively. In the three small gauge sizes the number of films, reels and footage is a new all-time record. Imports of 16mm from the US were 2,364; from the UK, 1477 and from Other Countries, 1820.

During the year 126 CinemaScope films were imported.

Customs and other duties: Duty of eight pence per linear foot on imports if imported for duplication purposes; five pence if imported for exhibition. All films subject to a primage duty of 10 per cent of assessed value and a 10 per cent special war duty tax. British imports for duplication are duty free; when imported for exhibition there is a duty of one pence a foot.

Admission taxes: Federal admission tax was abolished and reimposed only in Victoria, where the new tax is somewhat lighter than the Federal impost.

Legislation: New South Wales, Queensland and Tasmania have licensing authorities to control growth of new theatres. Queensland's Films Commission has power to arbitrate contract disputes. New South Wales quota laws impose a 3 per cent quota on distributors a 2½ per cent quota on exhibitors. Exhibitors' British quota is 15 per cent.

Government departments: Commonwealth Film Censorship, 9 Bligh St., Sydney. Films Division of the Department of the Interior, which can produce documentary and educational films, NSW Theatres and Films Commissions, Chief Secretary's Dept., 121 Macquarie St., Sydney; executive member, F. Lake. Queensland Picture Theatres and Films Commission, Department of Local Government, Treasury Bldg., Brisbane, Cinema Registration Board, Hobart.

Principal industry organizations: M. P. Distributors' Association of Australia; F. McN. Ackland, chairman and executive officer, and chairman of the Film Renters' Association. Theatre Managers' Association has branches in all states of Australia. Head office: 160 Castlereagh St., Sydney. Film Industry Officers' Association is a new union for exchange and theatre personnel, publicity men, branch managers, etc. An award is currently being negotiated in Sydney. It is a N.S.W. Union only, so far.

Principal producers: Avondale Studios, Turella, Sydney, Charles Chauvel Productions, Ltd., Southern International Films, Ltd.

Principal distributors: All American companies, with branches in every State except Tasmania, which is serviced from Victoria; British Empire Films Pty. Ltd., 251a Pitt St., Sydney; London Films, Sydney; Associated British, c/o 20th Century-Fox; Republic Pictures, c/o 20th-Fox; Ray Films Pty. Ldt., 149 Castlereagh St., Sydney and branches in all States; Herschells Pty. Ltd., 31 Agnes St., East Melbourne; Independent Film Distributors, Goulburn St., Sydney; Robert Kapferer Productions (foreign language films), 1 Bond St., Sydney; National Films of NSW (Reg.) 198-200 Pitt St., Sydney.

Principal theatre circuits: Birch, Carroll & Coyle, Edward Sa., Brisbane; M. G. M. Theatres, 20 Chalmers St., Sydney; Northern Suburbs Cinemas, 228 Pitt St., Sydney; Riverina Theatres Pty. Ltd., Leeton, NSW. Consolidated Theatres, Howard St., Perth; Far Northern Theatres, P. O. Box 865; Cairns Fullers Theatres, 89 Elizabeth St., Sydney; Goldfields Pictures, William St., Perth; Grand Theatre Company, Murray St., Perth; Greater Union Theatres, 49 Market St., Sydney; Hoyts Theatres, Ltd., 600 George St., N. S. W.; Robert McLeish Theatres, 243 Collins St., Melbourne; Snider & Dean Theatres, 155 King St., Sydney; Star Theatres, 60 St. John St., Launceston; Suburban Theatres, Claremont; T. J. Dorgan, Molesworth St., Lismore; J. C. Williamson Theatres, 51 Castlereagh St., Sydney; Wollongong Theatres, 60 Hunter St., Sydney; Woodrow Distributing Corporation, 239 Collins St., Melbourne.

General conditions and outlook: Business has been brisk on the whole up till now with the good pictures getting good money and the not-so-good coming a cropper, no matter what the size or Scope. Among the biggest flops of the year were "Virgin Queen," "Helen Of Troy" and "The Prodigal," with the peak grossers including "A Man Called Peter," "Blackboard Jungle," "Jedda" and "Rear Window." The future is not so bright as it was this time last year as television is rising fast on the horizon. By the end of the year there will be six TV stations operating (four commercial and two national) in Sydney and Melbourne. Although present estimates of the amount of sets which will be sold in the first year keep the number down to around 30,000, this figure could be too low and TV could have a really great initial impact.

NSW, the only major State without drive-ins, will have them by the end of 1956, it is expected. The exhibitors bodies who have united in a number of situations (Hoyts, Greater Union, independent circuits and exhibitors) will put five into operation this Spring and Metro has just bought the licence for a twin drive-in to house some 1300 cars; this will be ready in 1957. American Al Rosen is going ahead with his plans for Fairy Meadow, as this report is written.

By next year there should be close to 20 drive-ins in Australia. These theatres are popular with motorists, but not too popular with residents near where the theatres are located already in certain Melbourne suburbs.

Film production will continue on its minor level, with Ealing and Warwick definitely committed to production. Others may make a film or two here. There have been fewer invasions by top American live talent, which does not draw the same tremendous crowds as in the first flush of the enterprise. It is expected that the industry will have to gird itself up for a stiff fight against television opopsition, if not this year, certainly by the end of next year.

—FRANK O'CONNELL

AUSTRIA

Number of theatres in operation (Dec. 31, 1954): 1,150 compared to 1,032 in 1951 and 957 in 1950. This includes 230 theatres in Vienna, which accounted for nearly half of the box office receipts for 1954.

Total attendance: about ninety million or an average of 183,500 visitors per theatre.

Seating capacity: 290,000 averaging 270 per theatre, or one seat to twenty-seven persons.

Production: 185 features and 17 full length documentaries and cultural films have been produced since 1946, 17 of them in color.

Number of imported features: 428 foreign pictures were offered by distributors in Austria in 1954 (216 U. S., 106 German, including six German-Austria coproductions, 26 French, 23 British, 21 Italian, 7 Russian, and 29 others). Among them were 21 in color and 10 3-Ds.

Distribution: 31 distributors are active in Austria, 23 of whom handle home productions. U.S. product is distributed mainly by AFEX (American Film Export Association) and MGM, British by J. Arthur Rank, Soviet and East German product by Universal-Film.

Censorship: Only to determine which pictures are to be admitted for general attendance and which barred to persons under sixteen years of age. Censorship is exercised by the city of Vienna for all Austrian Lands.

Regulations: Minimum program length 2,600 meters.

Principal producers: Wien-Film, VII, Siebensterngasse 31; Styria, I, Schubentring 3; Vindobona-Film, I, Wallnerstr. 2; Donau-Film, VII, Neubaugasse 38. All in Vienna.

Principal distributors: (All in Vienna): MGM and 20th Century Fox, VII, Neubaugasse 1; International-Film GmbH, VII, Siebensterngasse 19; Sascha Filmverleih-und Vertriebs GmbH, VII, Kirchengasse 19; AFEX, VII, Neubaugasse 25; Constantin Filmverleih GmbH., VII, Siebensterngasse 37; Union-Film GmbH, VI, Gumpendorfer St. 63; J. Arthur Rank Overseas Film Distributors Ltd., VII, Neubaugasse 2; Gloria Filmverleih und Vertrieb, VII, Neubaugasse 25; Oefram Film GmbH, VII, Neubaugasse 36; Favorit Film, VII, Neubaugasse 36; Styria Film, VI, Koestlergasse 5; Hope Film, VII, Mariahilfer St. 114; Jupiter-Film, VII, Neubaugasse 25; Iris-Film GmbH, VII, Neubaugasse 38; Eos Film, VII, Neubaugasse 3.

Newsreels: 2. Fox Toenende Wochenschau (Dist. by MGM); Austria Wochenschau, Vienna XIX, Sieveringer St. 135.

Studios: Wien Film Studios, at Sievering and Schoenbrunn, Vienna. Ring Film Studios, Kalvarienberg, Vienna. Studio Parsch, Salzburg. Studio Thiersee, Tirol (at present not in use). Total annual capacity about 30 features. Wien Film Studios, Rosenhuegel, Vienna, are under Soviet control.

General conditions and outlook: The Austrian motion picture industry has gone through a difficult time. Owing to a scarcity of credits, which the government has done little to alleviate, production dropped and many were compelled to seek employment in Germany. Anyway, Austrian producers could not subsist on the home market alone and are relying heavily on exports. The principal buyer is Western Germany with which a mutual export-import relation has been agreed upon so as to balance box office revenues. Theatres are plentiful, though many of them are in need of reconditioning. Admission rates, which for years were held by a government price stop at a very low level, have at last been moderately raised, but they are nevertheless the lowest in Europe. Taxes are still excessive. But as the Austrian population is as fond of the theatre as ever industry is looking into the future with confidence. Also, Austrians hope that having regained sovereignty, they may now be able to find new outlets abroad through film exchange treaties.

—VOLKMAR VON ZUEHLSDORFF

BELGIUM

Number of theatres in operation: There are 1,582 motion picture theatres, an increase of 14 over last year.

Number of features imported in 1954: No exact data are available. The U.S.A. supplied some 65 or 70% of all imported films.

Features Produced in 1954: Four. "Schippers-kwartier" and "Sinjorenbloed" producing company. ANTWERPSE FILMONDERNEMING; director, E. Kiel.

Censorship: There is no censorship in Belgium, but a Government appointed committee determines which films are suitable to children under the age of sixteen. Theatres must conspicuously display "Children Admitted" sign.

Customs and duties: Import duties for films: Positive films, Fr 1,66 per meter; Negative film Fr 0,35 per meter; Cost of sub-titling varies between Fr 10.000 and 15.000 per film.

Taxes: Taxes on motion picture admissions vary between 18% and 25% on gross takings (including copyright).

Financial exchange regulations: The proceeds of films are allowed to be exported freely, taking into account the recent conditions concerning the dollar zone. 50% will be blocked in Belgium.

Industry legislation: There is no definite legislation on the motion picture industry in Belgium, which works independently from Government instances. In very extraordinary cases, such as those in which the whole national economy is concerned and of which resulted the agreement about import and export of the dollar zone products, the Belgian Government will act as an advisor in order to serve as well as possible the interest of everybody concerned, including those of the motion picture people.

Government departments: As far as necessary, the Ministry of Economical Affairs and the Ministry of Finance are concerned with films.

Industry organizations: The Belgium film trade consists of three organizations, two of which are constituted by producers, distributors and laboratories. They are: "Chambre Syndicale Belge du Cinéma" and the "Union Professionnelle des Distributeurs de Films de Belgique." The third organization groups most of the exhibitors and is called the "Association des Directeurs de Théâtres Cinématographiques de Belgique." As a rule the films are distributed on a percentage basis. This amounts to 30% with a reduction of 1% for members of the A.D.T.C.B. For the so-called exceptional films, such as those in CinemaScope and the like, the percentage often amounts to 50%.

General conditions and outlook: As we reported last year, TV was put in operation in September 1953. Although the experimental state is at an end by now, TV has not the least influence on theatre attendance. A certain diminution of public interest in pictures during last winter was not caused by TV, but by the bitter cold. There is nothing that may forecast a growing influence of TV in 1957. It is true, that the number of video-receiving sets is increasing constantly, but this does not, and as yet will not affect theatre attendance in the near future, and this allows us to look forward to a normal year 1957.

General conditions and outlook: Brazil imports a yearly average of 600 full-length features; including all kinds of subjects, this total comes up to around 3,000 films. Brazilian average annual production is only 25 full-length features; in 1953, highest points of Brazilian production, 34 films were produced, and for 1956 30 features are planned.

Annual attendance in theatres is around 300 million admissions sold. Recently, admission fees were increased and are now an average of 8 cruzeiros, with CinemaScope and VistaVision ceilinged at 18 cruzeiros. Almost all larger theatres in main cities are equipped for the new techniques, including stereophonic sound. —R. EKERMAN Number of Theatres in operation: Approximately 500 and about 100 mobile units. Product distributed is chiefly USSR, Czech and Polish. No U.S. product is imported.

BULGARIA

CANADA

Number of theatres in operation: 1,782, (as of April 1, 1956), based on figures compiled by the Canadian Motion Picture Distributors Association. These have a seating capacity of 923,697. In 1955, some 39 35 mm. auditorium houses were added, 21 drive-ins were constructed, but 135 houses were closed, giving a total of 189 dark houses.

Number of features released in 1955: 485, about 10 per cent less than the 522 released in 1953. This does not include the number of French films brought into the Province of Quebec, both original French productions and those dubbed in the French language. Total release figure is based on films viewed by the Ontario Censor Board, through which a majority of the Canadian film imports pass, other than Quebec. Most of the films were in the English language, coming from the United States and Great Britain. Growth of the ethnic population of the country was reflected in the fact that 23 per cent of the films were in languages other than English.

Domestic production of films remained on the same previous low level. The only 35 mm. active theatrical production was done by the National Film Board which continued to turn out shorts. The Government still hasn't done anything to encourage film production in this country. TV encouraged the growth in number of sponsored films.

Early in 1956, one major feature production was completed on a budget of$400,000. Based on the Stratford Shakespearean Festival production of Oedipus Rex, the film was the beginning of a series of filmings over the next 20 years of productions to be done by that theatre group.

The Canadian Co-operation project of the MPAA continued to encourage producers to utilize Canadian locales for backgrounds as well as location work.

Censorship: Each province, with the exception of Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland, has its own censor board, the exceptions having no form of censorship. Dominion Government imposes no censorship. Fees are charged on the basis of length or by the reel.

Customs, duties and taxes: Imported 35 mm. motion picture film, distributed for profit, comes in at a minimum value of eight cents per foot for duty purposes, but if invoice value is higher, then greater value is used. Duty is one and a half cents per linear foot and this is added to appraised value on which sales tax of 10 per cent is also payable. There is no differential between black and white and color. Educational or religious films are free of duty and sales tax, provided, a certificate from Office of Educational Exchange, Washington, is submitted to and approved by the Deputy Minister of Customs, Ottawa. Film from Great Britain subject to same imposts as that from U.S., except if duty exceeds 15 per cent of the value figured at one and a half cents a foot, then there is discount of 10 per cent in the amount payable on British Preferential tariff. Advertising comes in at 25 per cent on the invoice value, plus 10 per cent sales tax on the total.

Admission taxes: Taxes on all amusements are collected by the nine provinces, with the tenth, Saskatchewan leaving it to local option. The past year saw a revision of amusement taxes in four of the provinces. Taxes are: British Columbia, all net admissions subject to 12 per cent tax; Alberta, tax on a sliding scale with tickets under 35 cents exempted. Remaining tax is three cents on 36 to 37 cent-tickets, with a maximum of 25 cents over $2; Manitoba, tax on a sliding scale, with no tax to 30 cents, one cent on tickets 31 to 34 cents and over 45 cents, with basic rate at 10 per cent. On two-dollar ticket there is a nine-cent tax. Newfoundland, a provincial entertainment tax of five cents on every adult admission is imposed, with receipts used to finance cancer research or treatment. Various local councils impose entertainment tax upon all stage performances, entertainments, circuses, or shows, save in the case where all proceeds are used for charitable and like purposes; Ontario, On sliding scale, with no tax up to 25 cents, with peak of 10 per cent on tickets $1.00 and over and fractions less than ½ cent eliminated.

Quebec: Tax collected by the municipalities by authority of province which shares it. It is 10 per cent of the actual admission price, plus an additional assessment of 25 per cent of the amount of such tax; New Brunswick: Runs around 11 per cent; Nova Scotia: Up to 25 cents, two cents, sliding scale after, with tax of 10 cents over $1.01 plus five cents for each 50 cents or fraction thereof; Prince Edward Island: Up to 12 cents, two cents, and then sliding scale to a dollar. Over that, 25 cents. Five cents on every adult admission collected, with local councils imposing entertainment tax.

Theatre and exchange licenses: Provincial and municipal governments require annual licenses from theatres and film exchanges, the fees for theatres ranging up to $200. Theatres and distributing offices where films are stored come under strict building and inspection codes.

General Conditions and Outlook: The Canadian motion picture industry continues its belt-tightening policy. The expected levelling off last year didn't materialize, business became worse. More houses last year were shuttered with still others to become dark this year. Decline of the action houses is making it more difficult for the independent film distributor to stay in business.

The industry is concentrating on Grade A houses with extended-run pictures and in the larger communities, more day-and-date theatres are being developed by the circuits to counteract the problems of parking in the congested downtown streets.

Amusement tax cuts by four provinces last year will aid the profit picture, although the cuts were so slight as to be negligible. Exhibitor associations are continuing to press legislators for additional tax cuts in the face of TV.

TV through 33 stations, with three more under construction, is increasing its coverage, already estimated at nearly 90 per cent of the population through an estimated 2,039,689 sets. Some 50,000 additional sets a month are being sold. Color TV is yet to be a factor in this country, but talk indicates that it will start in the fall of 1956. Subscription TV, through the Telemeter franchise held here by Famous Players, will be tried in one city within a year.

Interest in TV is likely to expand with the introduction of competitive TV in the six major markets of the country where the state-owned Canadian Broadcasting Corp. has a monopoly. The film industry is represented in three of the TV stations in this country, Famous Players with an interest in stations in Quebec City and Kitchener, and RKO with its interest in the radio-TV operation in Windsor.

The economy of the country continues to boom. Employment is full, encouraged by new expansion in the country's natural resources, construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway and a continuing demand for housing, but recreational activities divert the population's interest from movies.

Immigration has slumped somewhat during the past year, but it has played a major part in the movie-going public's taste, as witness the fact that 23 per cent of the 485 features submitted to the Ontario Censor Board in 1955 were in languages other than English.

The active theatre construction since 1950 turned downwards last year. Although 60 new houses were opened, of which 21 were drive-ins, 25 of the standard-type construction and 18 of the ozoners were in localities which previously had none of the type opened. The new theatres were mainly in areas where industrial and other expansion has made the opening of the community's first 35 mm. theatre economically feasible, regardless of TV and other entertainment. In 1955, there were 33 contracts let for theatre construction, with a value of $2,221,800, as contrasted with the previous year, when 64 contracts, valued at $3,069,000 were let. The bulk of the contracts were let in Ontario with 16, more than double any of the other provinces.

Indicative of what is happening in the industry is the fact that 135 houses were darkened in the year ending April 1, 1956. These together with those previously listed as closed, total 189 dark houses, lowering the seating capacity of active theatres to 923,697. In 1954, there was a 3.3 per cent drop in the gross theatre receipts of $105,-515,563 from $109,072,528 in 1953. These figures, computed by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, a government agency, show that the 237,264,894 theatre admissions were down 8.5 per cent with the main strength still in the drive-ins. Drive-in receipts were $6,316,947 in 1954, up from $5,862,920 in 1953.

According to DBS, Canadians spent $7.80 per capita on movies in 1954. It was six per cent less than the record $8.30 per capita reached in 1953 following a steady rise from $5.61 in 1943.

The industry however, hasn't stood still in attempting to attract more dollars to the boxoffice. Imaginative advertising and promotion, encouraged by contests among managers of both the major circuits highlighted the industry's attempt to bolster sagging receipts. New film techniques, Cinerama and Todd-AO were introduced to the Canadian public for the first time last year, Cinerama being shown in one Montreal house, while Todd-AO was placed on screens in both Montreal and Toronto.

While the rate of transfer of ownerships and leases was higher last year than ever before, and while the first quarter showed an even smaller boxoffice gross than the same period last year, observers feel "it can't get any worse."

CHILE

Number of theatres in operation: 408. There are a few 16 mm theatres in operation in small towns. There are, however, about 60 16 mm outfits which are used in schools, churches, etc.

Number of features released during 1955: 351.

Censorship: Approval of films for the entire Chilean territory must be obtained from a committee of seven members. The Censorship Board is dependent of the Ministry of Education. It is formed by: The Director General of National Libraries and Public Museums, who presides; 2 teachers; 1 psychiatrist; 1 representative of the Municipality; 2 persons representatives of the President of Chile. (There are also two inspectors.) Censorship is divided in four classes: Films for adults, not suitable for young ladies; films for adults; films for adults and youngsters; films recommended for educational purposes. There are also films rejected for public showing.

Custom Fees: $25 pesos gold per kilo. Besides there is an extra charge of 28% in Chilean currency for various other expenses. The cost of a film is 180.000 Chilean pesos, divided as follows: 100.000. —Chilean pesos for the first copy; and 80.000.—for the second copy. Each other copy has to pay another additional 40.000 Chilean pesos.

Financial exchange regulations: There are two groups of films importers: The Camara de Comercio Cinematografico (which includes all American film distributors), and Asociacion de Distribuidores Cinematograficos in which are grouped the independent distributing companies. The foreign exchange quota which is granted by CONDECOR (Consejo de Comercio Exterior) must be shared by these two entities. The import is made with 500.—Chilean pesos for each dollar.

Industry Legislation: There is no government legislation concerning the type or quantity of films to be exhibited. After having passed censorship, any film can be suspended by the Mayor or the Indendant of the city.

Government Departments: Direccion de Informaciones del Estado, DIE (Casa de la Moneda). A weekly newsreel is produced by this department.

General Conditions and Outlook: The basic problem that affects the motion picture industry in Chile is the shortage of foreign exchange for importing films. However, it appears that this year larger imports may be made. According to its population (6.000.000 inhabitants), Chile is the fourth Spanish speaking country interested in films from the U. S. A. The Chilean motion picture is momentarily reduced to the production of newsreels and documentaries. Short films of publicity are also filmed by Emelco. Plans have been made to reorganize and promote Chilean production of Chilean pictures.

MARIA ROMERO

CHINA

Number of theatres in operation: approximately 800.

Number of features released in 1954: approximately 600.

Studios: In Hong Kong the British colony, the three largest Chinese films studios are located: The Yung Hwa Studio and Great Wall Studio which are producing pictures with Mandarin dialogues while Grand View Studio is producing Cantonese dialogue picture, those pictures are supplied for the local and overseas Chinese audience. In Hong Kong there are 30-odd theatres, of which two thirds are showing mostly American and British films, and the other third, Chinese films.

Censorship: All films, whether imported or home produced, must go through the censor from the central educational department, Shanghai Office. At the beginning of 1949, a branch office was in Canton, Kwangtung, for the facility of censorship in South China. Censor charges: $1.25 (U. S.) for one reel.

Custom duty: $0.275 (U. S.) for each meter of film. Amusement tax: 23% levied from the total receipts on each picture after public exhibition. Revenue stamps: 5% of the face value of each ticket.

Financial exchange regulations: No foreign exchange by official rate is available for the film importers. All funds distributors receive from their picture public exhibitions are remitted out at the black market rate from black market channels.

Import regulations: All foreign films imported into China must have their own import quota which is obtained from the Import and Export Commission in Shanghai or in Canton. This is a very strict regulation.

CZECHOSLOVAKIA

Number of theatres in operation (35 and 16 mm): approximately 3,500.

Imports almost exclusively from USSR and Soviet orbit.

American industry represented through MPEA.

DENMARK

Number of theatres in operation: 500. (Copenhagen, 58. Provinces, 405. Mobile cinemas, 30. Faroe Islands, 7.)

Number of features released in 1955: 343. (U.S.A., 187. 134 from eight American branch offices). Germany, 36. France, 33. England, 26. Denmark, 17. Sweden, 17. Italy, 12. Russia, 5.

Features produced in 1955: 17. (Of these 3 documentaries and 1 re-issue.) The Danish Oscar statuette (called "Bodil" in Denmark) this season was won by the brilliant and cleverly written comedy "Pa Tro og Love" (1—please see below the translation of all the Danish film titles) produced by Nordisk Film, directed by Torben Anton Svendsen, written by the journalist Knud Poulsen and with Poul Reichardt and Astrid Willaume in the leads. Last year the similar "Bodil" prize was won by two films, "Ordet" (2) and "Der kom en Dag" (3) which were both released in the beginning of 1955. Other good Danish product: "Altid Ballade" (4), also produced by Nordisk Film, the documentary film from Greenland, "Hvor Bjergene sejler" (5), produced by Palladium and the most disputed "Blændværk" (6), produced by Flamingo Studios. Very big hits with the audiences were the popular comedies "Bruden fra Dragstrup" (7) and "Det var pa Rundetarn" (8), both produced by SAGA and "Far til fire pa Landet" and "Tre finder en Kro", both produced by ASA.

Censorship: Approval of all films must be obtained from State's Censorship Board appointed by Ministry of Justice. Three classifications: banned (white seal), general showing (red seal), adults only (yellow seal). All posters and stills used for advertising must be approved by same board.

Customs and other duties: A customs duty of d.kr. 25.00 per kilogram is paid. Minor fees for censorship of films and advertising.

Admission taxes: Effective April 1, 1955, the entertainment tax is 84 per cent of the basic admission price—roughly 50 per cent of gross price.

Financial exchange regulations: Early 1954 the allocation system was abolished. All regulations for import of films have been cancelled and film trade is thus back to pre-war conditions.

Industry legislation: A distributor must be a Danish citizen or a Danish company headed by a Danish citizen. No distributor may be an exhibitor unless he is a Danish producer, in which case he may be given an exhibitor's license. No exhibitor may operate or control more than one house, consequently there are no circuits. The law provides for 25 per cent of the entertainment tax receipts from the exhibition of Danish films to be remitted to the film producers.

General Conditions and Outlook: In 1955 business dropped seriously, distributors' rental from well above 18 mill. d.kr. to abt. 16 mill. d.kr. The reasons: 1. The summer of 1955 was the hottest for 25 years and lasted almost three months. 2. Increased admission prices due to higher entertainment tax from April 1, 1955. The tax was increased from 3/8 to 5/11 of gross price or roughly 85% on basic admission price. 3. Advancing economical difficulties for the State and the population. 4. The American film blockade, started May 25, 1955. The trend for slower business continued in the beginning of 1956 with an extremely cold winter and a most serious general strike lasting one month. Accordingly many exhibitors are in heavy difficulties and a reduction of ent. tax is considered essential. A partial reduction is hoped to be made effective immediately. The film rental is 30%, and it is doubtful if exhibitors will be able to pay higher film rental whatever happens. A proposal to solution of the film conflict was put forward on a general meeting recently but was entirely rejected. According to this the rental limit should be cancelled and a completely free price-forming should be the result. At the moment it is very difficult to see how and when American films shall return to the Danish market where European product, particularly British, French and German, have gained ground. Television is still developing. Per May 15, 1956, 64% of population was covered, and 22.000 receivers held. TV and radio are still directed by State Broadcasting Company, and there is no publicity in the programmes. Hoping the above report is satisfactory, I am with kindest regards.

ECUADOR

Number of theatres in operation: Approximately 260 35 mm houses and 70 16 mm houses. We do not have statistics at the present time.

Number of Features Released in 1955: 424 (mostly from U. S.)

Censorship: Censorship in the country is divided by provinces. Each province has its own Censorship Board formed by local representatives. In Guayaquil Censorship Board must approve all films before release. Films fall into four classes: "A" excellent, for general audience. "B" rejected for children. "C" pictures to be exhibited separately for women and men; and "D" banned. The companies must ask for censorship within three days in advance. Also pictures released more than six months need to be reviewed. In Quito the Censorship Board is controlled by the Municipality and also must approve all films before release but the same pictures released in Guayaquil are banned in Quito, especially mexican pictures.

Customs, Duties and Other Fees: According with the Law, effective January 1st, 1954, all the pictures and advertising to be imported are located in List "2" and will pay 20 gold sucres per gross kilo. All the imported films will have its import license given by the Control de Cambios of the Central Bank paying the 50% in advance of taxes then when the picture comes, the companies have to pay the other 50% of fees. This law affects the advertising films that are distributed free of charge to the theatres. It is expected this law will be reformed but the fees will be raised at 30 gold sucres per gross kilo but at the present time it has not been put into effect.

Admission Taxes: The taxes affecting motion picture business have been raised as follows: 30 centavos for national defense, Decree No. 3, August 13, 1947; 20 centavos for public assistance, Decree No. 1008, January 8, 1944; 10 centavos for national health, Decree No. 932, October 6, 1943; 20 centavos for school construction, Decree No. 686, December 12, 1950; 10 centavos for Ex-President Garcia Moreno monument, Decree No. 660 November 8, 1954; 10 centavos for Ex-President Eloy Alfaro monument, Decree No. 693, December 17, 1954; 10% for reconstruction of devastated zones by the August 5, 1949 earthquake, Decree No. 319, September 21, 1949; 10% Municipal tax, Decree No. 152, March 4, 1949; 10% Government tax, Decree No. 227, March 5, 1945. All these taxes for one admission ticket represents more than 50% of the entire value.

Financial Exchange Regulations: June 1947, decree permits all film companies operating in the country to transfer funds to United States or other countries by purchasing dollars through the "free market" instead of the Central Bank of the Ecuador. This means, in effect, a decrease in film income because the "free market" sells dollars at 18.00 whereas the official rate is 15.15 including taxes, but there is no limit in the transferences.

Industry Legislation: November 1948, decree by which all film companies operating in Ecuador must pay seven per cent of their profits to their employees, according to the annual declaration to the Government for payment of taxes. Now, all the companies have agreed to pay that percentage.

Government Departments: Comisaria de Espectaculos which controls all film business and where all the managers must be registered: chief Enrique Morales Alfaro. Departamento de Cambios (Exchange Department); chief in Guayaquil Nicolas Castro Barreiro. Direccion General de Aduanas (Customs House Direction) chief: General Ricardo Astudillo.

gilio Villafuerte, Agent in Quito. 20th Century-Fox Film (also distributes Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer pictures) main office Quito: Carlos Ibarra, manager; Carlos Becerra, Branch Manager in Guayaquil. In addition these circuits there are others which controls small houses in the cities and towns of less importance.

General Conditions and Outlook: Business here during the first months of 1956 has decreased about 20% compared to the figure of last year in the same period. The principal reason is the fact that the country has supported a restriction in their exports, (Ecuador is the principal exporter of bananas) and people were short of money. Other fact seems to be that the number of American film productions has decreased and theatres are obligated to show old time films which people do not like to see repeatedly.

But prospects for the rest of the year are better because many theatres will be opened not only in Quito and Guayaquil but in provinces.

Many good pictures that raised in more than 200% the common production were released last year. Among American many Italian, French and German pictures are released in the country with good success. People like to see CinemaScope so 50% of the total theatres are equipped for this system.

A new Circuit was formed in Quito with the opening of the "Mariscal", "Avenida" and "Granada" theatres all equipped for CinemaScope.

EGYPT

Number of theatres in operation: 375. There are also about 99 16mm. situations.

Number of features released in 1955: 459. This total included 46 Egyptian films and imports from the U. S., Britain, France, Italy, Greece and India.

Feature Production in 1954: 46.

Censorship: Every imported picture must be censored by the Ministry of National Guidance. Pictures with subversive ideas, i.e. Communism, and touching on Moslem religion, honor and Arab prestige, etc. are forbidden. Local productions must have their script approved by the Ministry of National Guidance. After shooting, the film is again submitted to censorship.

Customs and other duties: A new decree provides that all imported features have their customs duties raised by 25 per cent. The duty stands at L13 a kilo with the original fee, the four per cent ad valorem and the 25 per cent increase decreed recently.

Under an arrangement with the government, Motion Picture Association of American members can withdraw 35 per cent of their income in dollars and 35 per cent in pound sterling. It is almost impossible to buy a picture from a hard-currency area so that practically only the major companies are bringing in films. The Ministry for Social Affairs gives out only three dubbing licenses a year under a "Gentleman's Agreement."

Government departments: The Ministry of National Guidance and the newly formed "Administration des Arts" under the direction of his General Manager and Censor M. Yehia Hakki. The actual Minister of National Guidance is H. E. Fathi Radwan.

Industry organizations: There is only one official organization created by Decree and called "Chambre de Cinema." This Chamber includes producers, distributors and exhibitors. The board is headed by Hosmi Naguib, president.

General Conditions and Outlook: Business during the past year was lower than before due to a crisis.

Prospects for even better business are bright. Studios and exhibitors would like very much to import American materials but owing to the shortage of materials they were obliged to look to countries where currency is more easily available. Arabic pictures are shown widely, especially in the provinces. British pictures are rarely shown. The attendance figure in 1955 was 75,000,000, which compares with only 12,000,000 in 1939.

FINLAND

Number of theatres in operation: January 1, 1956: about 600 cinemas with about 200,000 seats. Besides these exist also 12 hospital cinemas and 26 military regiment cinemas.

Number of features released in 1955: 400.

Feature productions in 1955: 27 films.

Censorship: All films for official showing in Finland are subject to the Government Censorship Board (Valtion Elokuvatarkastamo), which bureau classifies each film in a): four categories: (adults only, general public over 12 years old, general showing and totally banned); b): decides into which class of entertainment taxes the film belongs.

Because of an existing agreement with the Soviet, the Finnish censorship have been forced to ban several films dealing with Russians or with anti-communistic tendencies, while on the other hand Russian films with typical anti-American tendencies are allowed for showing. It is understood that if Finnish censors didn't use this policy, the immediate result would be Russian protests stating that Finland did not follow its stipulations in the peace and other existing agreements.

Customs and other duties: A fee of 34 Marks on each kilogram must be paid for all imported films.

Admission taxes: Finnish films: All films of educational or cultural worth are free from taxes. Other films pay 15%, 20% or 25% of admission prices, with the highest rate used for preferable show films.

Imported films: These also can be free from entertainment taxes after the same stipulations as for Finnish films. Other films pay 35%, 40% or 45% of admission prices in taxes.

Financial exchange regulations: There are no quotas limiting the number of films which can be brought into Finland, but restrictions on the transfer of foreign exchange may tend to reduce the distribution of imported product. Import licenses are required and are granted to distributors who state in each license application that they will not require foreign exchange before the Bank of Finland is ready to grant it.

Industry legislation: Market is free for competition, and no stipulations giving domestic productions certain conditions before imported features exists. Twenty first-run houses in Helsinki played 392 films during 1951, and after their run at these houses the films go to other cinemas (second-runs). Running time varies from one week to 14 weeks, which was the record-run for 1951, made by "Louisa" (U-I), at the 400-seater, Elysee.

General conditions and outlook: Every year, since 1946, Finland has shown the highest number of films in any of the four Scandinavian countries. The number of films each year has been close to 400. Back in 1952, the number of films shown was 407.

Finnish production, which usually has been between 15 and 20 films annually, jumped up to 29 releases during 1952, and in 1953 also noted more than 20 films. For 1954 the total was 28 films. Films in color have been made, more or less on experimental basis so far, but it is expected to be used more in near future. As seen here, the future looks promising.

General conditions and outlook: In 1955 390 million seats were sold for 48 milliard francs. The average for a week was the same as in 1954 that is 7,36 million seats sold for 1.05 milliard francs.

Total exports receipts were 2 milliard 420.213 million francs. 419,93 millions from the French Union; 1 milliard 450,25 millions from Europe, 122,83 millions from North America, 144,66 millions from South America and 126.22 millions from Asia.

Percentages: Germany 18.98%, Belgium 17.06%, Switzerland 6.64%, Great Britain 4.03%, Canada 2.83%, Japan 2.78%, U.S.A. 2.51% and U.S.S.R. 2.50%.

The additional tax on the price of seats to help the industry was increased last July on seats from 130 francs and over. This tax produced 4,814 milliard francs against 3,660 milliards in 1954.

Amounts paid out of the Aid Fund to the industry are as follows: 2,190 milliards to the producers and 2,267 milliards to the exhibitors. New claims have been made from the technical side. For the second half of 1955 the studios received 200 millions.

Despite the effort attendances in France are still poor. The average is nine visits per year. If receipts increase it is due to the increase in the price of seats. Between 1952 and 1955 receipts went up 20%. The increase in salaries over the same period increased 22%.

There are also more than 200 further producers in Germany, including those specializing in documentaries, shorts, scientific films, etc. 1,700 cultural and documentary films were produced in Germany from 1946 to 1955.

Principal studios and their annual feature production capacity (in parentheses) follow: Bavaria Filmkunst, Munich-Geiselgasteig (30 to 35); Atelierbetrieb Arnold & Richter, Tuerken St. 89, Munich 13 (8); CCC-Filmatelier, Verlaengerte Daum St. 16, Berlin-Spandau (24); Universum Film AG, Oberland St. 26-35, Berlin-Tempelhof (20); Rael-Film Studios, Tonndorfer Haupt-St. 90, Hamburg-Wandsbek (15); Atelierbetriebe Bendestorf GmbH, Hamburg-Bendestorf (8); Filmatelier Goettingen GmbH, Flugplatz, Goettingen (10); AFIFA AG fuer Filmfabrikation, Unter den Eichen, Wiesbaden (8).

Censorship: Since July 15, 1949, Allied control has been replaced by a German Production Code and a system of voluntary censorship patterned after the American example. This "Freiwillige Selbstkontrolle der deutschen Filmwirtschaft" (German Council of Voluntary Censorship), with headquarters at Schloss St. 2 Wiesbaden-Biebrich, has jurisdiction in Western Germany and West Berlin. Decisions of the Review Committee may be appealed to the Central Committee, thence to the Lawyers' Committee, whose verdict is final. Members coming from motion picture industry are in the majority on all committees except the last, which is formed by five public jurists or professors of law. The ministries of education, the Roman Catholic and the Protestant churches, the Jewish denomination, and the public Youth Offices are represented on the Central Committee. Since 1949, the Cenorship Council passed on 11,295 pictures of all categories, including imports. Only 31 of these (11 German, 20 foreign) were banned. Of 1,954 features passed on since 1951, 1,225 or 62.7 per cent were released for persons under 16 years of age; 235 or 12 percent of these also for children under ten. Another group of 809 or 41.4 per cent were admitted for public showing on Good Friday, All Souls Day and Rogation Day.

Admission taxes: These vary by state and community, ranging between 15 and 30 per cent. Amusement tax revenues from theatres in Western Germany, including West Berlin, totaled 140.8 million German marks (33.5 million Dollars) in 1955. Persistent protests (the tax used to average only 7.6 per cent before the war) have brought some reductions conceded to pictures of cultural or educational value, but sales and amusement taxes are still taking from German motion picture industry four times the amount of the total revenue of one year's production.

Financial exchange regulations: Since November 1, 1949, jurisdiction over motion picture imports is again exercised by German authorities. Income from foreign films may now be freely transferred to most countries, except to the Dollar area, from which it is deposited on special accounts. These may be used for investments in Germany or any other purpose except transfer to the Dollar area. With some countries such as Austria, Italy, France and Spain, an export-import balance has been agreed upon for motion picture exchange.

German motion picture export revenues went up from 3 million Dollars in 1954 to 3.6 in 1955. This compares to 30 million Dollars gross revenues, or 46 per cent of the total, earned by foreign pictures distributed in Germany in 1954.

Industry legislation: While each occupying power in Germany went its separate way at the outset, regulations and procedures are today equalized within the German Federal Republic. There is free competition between German and foreign firms. Theatres no longer need licenses either for personal efficiency or economic need. In May 1951, the West German government agreed to hold down to 27 per cent any screen quota, it may set up for German films, leaving American companies free to compete for the other 73 per cent in German theatres. In addition, the government bound the duty-free status of negative film exposed and developed at the present rate.

In the Russian zone, motion picture industry has been organized in a state monopoly after the Soviet example, and theatres have been nationalized. Due to the dislike for Soviet pictures and a strong demand for Western productions, some exchange of pictures has been conceded.

General conditions and outlook: The most important event, early in 1956, has been the transfer of formerly Reich-owned UFA assets into private hands. The capital for this was raised by coordinating some banking institutions, producers, distributors and theatre owners, as well as producers of raw material and equipment. Several companies were formed, notably UFA in Berlin and Duesseldorf, and BAVARIA in Munich, which, although small by American standards, will at least be able to take up production on the basis of planned programs, with enough capital to absorb setbacks. Two or three other production companies will probably be constituted along the same lines. This should still leave sufficient chances for the many small companies, frequently producing no more than one or two pictures a year, who so far were predominant in Germany.

With 112 features completed in 1955, German motion picture production has raeched again prewar output figures. Public guarantees were running out by the end of 1955 and will not be renewed. More features were exported, and in Germany native product took again 43.5 per cent of screen time, followed by American pictures. These continue to be the predominant import, accounting for one and a half of the screen-time taken by all other foreign product combined.

200 million dollars have been invested in constructing theatres since the end of the war. Their number has again increased in 1954. They are now plentiful and in good condition. The number of visits, both in total and per capita (14 for the year), has also increased. Equipment is produced here and not imported in significant quantities. The import of photo-chemical products went up to 5 million dollars, an increase of 50 per cent over last year's.

3-D, wide screen and stereophonic systems are well received also in Germany. In 1955, 57 CinemaScope pictures, 6 VistaVision, 4 SuperScope and one Cinepanoramic picture were released, which was four times as many as in the previous year.

EAST GERMANY
(Soviet Zone of Occupation)

Number of theatres in operation: Approximately 1,600. Seating capacity about 600,000, or one seat to every 31 inhabitants. Average seating capacity 375.

Number of features produced in 1955: 13. The production of 12 features has been announced for the current year.

Number of features produced since 1945: 90

Industry legislation: All except 50 theatres in East Berlin have been expropriated and are owned and run by the land governments or the Communist party (SED) as "Volkseigene Betriebe."

Distribution is state directed, handled by one centralized, state-owned PROGRESS company.

Production is equally state directed and strictly controlled by a "state committee," headed by Sepp Schwab. There is one producing company, DEFA, Berlin-Babelsberg.

Newsreel: Der Augenzeuge.

General conditions and outlook: Although the total attendance went up to 260 millions in 1954 (compared to 140 millions in 1952), motion picture production has again made a poor showing in the Soviet zone of Germany. Theatres have their programs dictated. Resistance to Soviet or satellite pictures is great, and empty or half-empty houses are still common. Open or veiled subsidies are necessary. The number of theatres is shrinking. East Berliners are flocking to the so-called "border cinemas," playing non-Soviet pictures near the Soviet sector at reduced prices. Authorities in the Soviet zone are more and more being compelled, therefore, to admit a larger number of Western German pictures.

Raw stock needs are covered by the AGFA plant in Wolfen, which also exports to the West. Equipment is produced in Eastern Germany.

Number of theatres in operation: Approximately 550, of which about 250 are open-air ones.

Admission taxes: Tax is calculated on a scaled basis. For the First Run theatres it reaches 40 per cent, all subsequent runs other sundries admission price pay nearly 30 per cent.

Financial exchange regulations: A foreign exchange permit and the approval of the foreign exchange section of the Bank of Greece is necessary. The over-all dollar remittance is regulated every year by the Department of National Economy which for the last five years allocated to all the American product $500,000 per year.

General Condition and Outlook: Financial results during 1955 differed not much from those of 1954.

The battle concerning the admission taxes has been definitely won in the majority of Dutch towns and the taxes are 25% of the admission prices as an average. Some smaller towns are still charging 30 or 35%, but the Dutch trade organization (Nederlandse Bioscoop Bond) is active.

An important number of Dutch towns is equipped with CinemaScope now, part of them using the four-track magnetic sound. VistaVision is also popular. The main import during 1955 was American product again, though certain French and English pictures also have a certain popularity amongst the audiences, in bigger towns especially. Non-American product is not only shown in so-called art theatres, but also in important theatres in key cities. Film rentals are gradually getting somewhat higher than those of last year. In sliding scales they are up to 40 percent. Colossals have special conditions.

Television, though not yet very important, is getting more influence. Owners of a set are more and more inclined to stay at home if there are good programs.

Domestic production, though not yet important, will increase in future undoubtedly. The trade organization is encouraging the production of Dutch pictures which is based on the success of a Dutch feature in 1955, "Ciske, the Rat". This picture, a Dutch-German co-production, has been sold to several countries and has won a Silver Lion in Venice, on the Biennale.

Equipment is domestic (Philips), American, German and British. The average theatre equipment is of first quality.

People here like good action pictures, good comedy, good stories and now and then show films.

General business outlook: favorable.

HUNGARY

The Motion Picture Export Association is operating in Hungary. Production, distribution and exhibition of films have been nationalized and are completely under government control. A contract which was signed with the MPEA in 1948 was never honored and the films covered by it were never released in Hungary. No new U. S. films are known to have been imported and released in the country during the past four years, The MPEA had reported in 1950 that the Hungarian government had issued an order requiring the MPEA to surrender all prints of member companies on hand in Hungary to the Ministry of Education.

INDIA

Number of Theatres in Operation: 3093 permanent, and 460 touring cinemas.

Number of features released in 1955: 190 Indian features, and an equal number of imported films—mostly in English language.

Number of features imported in 1955: 273. Of these 179 came from the US, 23 from Britain, 25 from Russia, 8 from Italy, 4 from France, 1 from Pakistan, and 33 from other sources.

Feature Productions in India in 1955: 285 features in thirteen languages were produced during 1955, in the three important film-producing centres of Calcutta, Bombay and Madras. Until 1955 India was the second largest film-producer in the world, but in 1955 Japan became the second largest producer, with India following as the third.

Industry Legislation: The amended Indian Cinematograph Act was introduced, though broadly it was based on the earlier Act, with all the subsequent modifications incorporated. The new Act is more in conformity with similar legislation in other countries. Censorship has been more strict, and several foreign films could not be certified.

Equipment: Majority of equipment, and raw film continue to be imported from United States, Great Britain and Germany and to a lesser extent from Italy. Increasing emphasis being placed by Government on indigenous manufacture of as much equipment as possible, and also spares and accessories. During 1955 imports of Studio Equipments from Great Britain was prominent, and to some extent from Germany also. The proposal to set up a raw-film manufacturing plant, which had been hanging fire for the past three or four years, has now been finally shelved, as it was feared that economically it may not be a paying proposition. Russian Equipments are beginning to come in, and there is a move to set up small plants to manufacture motion picture equipments in India, with the help and collaboration of Russia. Equipments for editing and processing, as also a variety of accessories are now manufactured in the country, and these are also exported to other countries. There is a proposal to set up a finishing plant for cinema carbons to start with, and if possible to manufacture cinema carbons locally, in course of time.

General conditions and Outlook: 1955 was an improvement over 1954, and this was reflected in the box-office returns. More and more colour pictures are being produced, and increased activity is evident in the direction of joint-productions with other countries like America, UK, Russia and Japan. There has been an increase in the returns on Indian features from overseas markets.

and this has encouraged a greater effort to exploit the overseas markets. The outlook for 1956, however, is rather pessimistic, at the time of writing—the political horizon is rather cloudy, with the States Reorganization phobia biting everyone, and consequent rioting and bitterness, and loss of property, production-time, and fear-complex. If there is no political tension, the latter part of 1956 might return to the 1955 status—which was not bad, compared to the previous years.

Principal Producers: George Fleishmann, 53 Pembroke Road, Dublin. National Film Institute, 65 Harcourt Street, Dublin. Four Provinces Films, Ltd., 30 Lansdowne Road, Dublin.

General conditions and outlook: During the past year attendances were slightly less, but a small increase in admission prices, imposed in the latter part of the year, insured that revenue maintained its previous level.

The small increase in prices, the first in over ten years, was forced on exhibitors by continued rises in overheads. No general level of price increase was imposed. Each exhibitor decided individually what changes he would make.

The government imposed emergency levies on various other trades and general increase in taxes in an effort to curb inflation, decrease the national advise trade balance, and to obtain extra finance for administration costs; but fortunately it decided not to touch existing film taxes nor to cancel certain exemptions granted to the film industry. The general tightening or the public's purse however may have a future adverse effect on boxoffice returns.

Despite their earlier announcements to the contrary, many rural exhibitors changed over to wide screen of various types and the development continues.

Both city and rural cinemas were worried about shortage of suitable product and for some first run houses the problem has been intensified since they changed from single to double feature programmes in a successful effort to maintain admission figures at a seasonable standard. The public is growing more apathetic about superproductions though the latter still obtain significant extra box-office returns. Runs however were in all cases much shorter than those by similar pictures in previous years. The cinema "habit" is also declining.

Within the Dublin, East Coast and Northern areas of the Republic here is a remarkable growth of domestic TV sets. Viewers get good reception of English BBC programs, and this rapid development will probably force the Irish Government, which has radio and TV monopoly, to enter the TV field much earlier then it had intended.

The cinema remains the cheapest and most popular form of entertainment. These have been increased difficulties with censorship owing to a lessening of moral standards in certain films, but for good films Public Opinion is reaching much more benevolently than was previously the case. In responsible circles it is increasingly recognized that the Cinema has much to offer that is good. The industry is conscious that the future will hold many problems but appears to be generally confident of its own ability to cope with all foreseeable situations and maintain its improved Public Relations positions if future product has reasonably good story context.

ISRAEL

Number of theatres operating: 142.

Features produced in 1954: "The Golden Key" and "Hill 24 Doesn't Answer."

Censorship: Each film has to be licensed by a censorship board, against payment of IL.25/- per picture as tax.

Customs duties: An import duty on films is required as follows: features, black and white IL.10/- per kg. net; technicolor IL.15/- per kg. net; shorts and trailers IL.15/- per kg. net.

Admission prices: These taxes amount to approximately 101% of the ticket value. The taxes go to the Government and the municipalities.

Financial exchange regulations: These regulations are very strict. All income of American companies is deposited in blocked accounts, except a fraction of out-of-pocket expenses divided among the American companies working in Israel.

Industry organizations: American film companies are organized in the A.M.P.A. for Israel under the chairmanship of S. Grinwald. There is an Association of Independent Film Distributors and the Cinemas Owners' Association. There is also a producers' organization consisting of independent producers. But there are national institutions as well, which are the most important producers in the country.

General conditions and outlook: Business conditions in 1954 were generally better than in 1953. But so far as American films are concerned, they were not quite so lucky, since independent distributors continued to get a large share of the business compared with previous years. However, the majority of the public remains American-minded and prefers American productions to others.

In the year 1954 the public eagerness for 3-D pictures cooled down a lot, and interest was aroused in wide screen and CinemaScope. But no one was hasty to introduce these innovations, as the 3-D experience had taught all concerned that these new techniques might not meet the favour of the Israeli movie-goer. Another factor made distributors and exhibitors rather slow in introducing wide screen and CinemaScope, viz. the high cost of equipment and the lack of foreign currency needed for the purpose.

The Israeli public, however, continued, in all its various elements, to be most sensitive to the artistic value of the motion picture, so that only good pictures can actually draw a large audience. Some outstanding productions had long runs.

The question of licences still remains a problem. No licences have been granted for the import of new equipment, also owing to the lack of hard currency.

It is to be noted that the Israeli pound in relation to the U. S. dollar was fixed by the Government at the rate of IL.1/800 per dollar.

ITALY

Number of theatres in operation: Estimates range from 9,000 to 16,000 (of which at least 5,000 church theatres and about 1,500 open air theatres and arenas). The almanac of the SIAE, Societa Italiana Autori (see: Government Organizations), books 10,629 theatres in January 1956. However, less than 7,000 theatres can be considered important from industrial point of view, including some church theatres commercially very important in certain areas. The key-theatres are around 2,500. About 70% of the theatres are in towns with less than 20,000 people and only 14% in towns with more than 100,000 inhabitants. Only 10% of the theatres have a daily average gross income of more than 150 dollars. The largest part (about 50%) cash from 15 to 80 dollars in the average each day. More than 1,500 towns out of the total of 7,800 (i.e. 20%) are still without any theatre at all. Average number of patrons per theatre, as reported by SIAE: 77,093 in year, i.e. 1,500 in the week.

Number of features imported in 1955: 314 (U.S.A., 216, i.e. ten more than in the precedent year; Britain, 37; France, 19; West Germany, 17; Spain, 9; Argentina, 4; Austria, 3; Mexico, 6; Japan, 2; India, 1).

Number of features exported in 1955: 224 export permits were granted in 1955, i.e. 5% more than in the precedent year. 86 were the countries importing Italian pictures. Most important buyers were: Malta, 156; Venezuela, 104; Peru, 90; Switzerland, 79; Portugal, 68; Egypt, 65; Ecuador, 64; Iraq, 64; Turkey, 64; Iran, 63; Greece, 61; U.S.A., 57; Lebanon, 55; France, 54; Israel, 53; Uruguay, 53; West Germany, 48; Finland, 47; Netherland, 47; Cuba, 46; Brazil, 41. Britain bought 23 features, Canada, 35 and Russia, 3.

Global profits from exported pictures were about 12 million U.S.A. dollars in 1955.

Feature production in 1955: 140 of which 85% got the Government subsidy of the 18% of the gross income and the other ones the subsidy of 10% only.

50 features, i.e. about 35% of the production, were in color, including 38 made with new filming techniques (chiefly Cinemascope and Vistavision). In the past four years, the Italian movie makers made 56 feature films with present motion picture processes.

The cost of the feature production reached around 50 million U.S.A. dollars in the whole of 1954, with one picture "War And Peace" costing more than 4 million dollars.

The most successful pictures of the season 1955-56 were: "Pane, Amore E . . ." (Bread, Love And . . .) featuring Sophia Loren and Vittorio De Sica, produced by the Titanus "La più bella donna del mondo" (The Most Beautiful Woman In The World), an Italian French coproduction featuring Gina Lollobrigida. Other important pictures were: "Amici Per La Pelle"; "Il Bidone"; "Le Amiche"; "Racconti Romani" and "La Fortuna Di Essere Donna" featuring Sophia Loren.

Newsreels and documentaries: 401 newsreels produced in 1955 with a total number of released copies of about 28,000. The global Government subsidy (which in 1955 was still 3% of gross income including that of the feature film to which the newsreel was annexed) reached more than 4,300,000 dollars. Subsidy reduced to 1.75% beginning January 1956. More than 110,000 yards lavender prints of newsreels concerning a couple of thousand Italian events were exported in 1955.

1132 documentaries were produced in 1955, which is and probably will remain for many years to come, the record in Italy. Almost half of them got the Government subsidy of 5% and another 40% the subsidy of 3% of the gross income. 90% of them were in color and about 18% in new filming processes.

The large number of documentaries was due to the obligation to release them before the end of 1955 to benefit of the Government subsidies established by the film law expired on that date. The new regulations approved on July 1956, substituted the Government subsidy with money rewards to be given to the best shorts each year with a global amount of prizes of about 500,000 dollars. The cost of the average black & white short is 6,000 dollars including 30 copies. Colored shorts, 8,000 dollars including 30 prints. Some 300 shorts were exported in 1955.

Cost of features film for TV in the English version ranges from 10,000 to 20,000 dollars each one when produced in a series.

Feature films released: The total number of new feature films released in the season 1955-56 was about 450 including native and foreign productions of which around 280 American and 112 Italian. Many of them—chiefly black & white features—were reportedly released at rental percentage lower than 40%. The present regulations, arranged between the organizations of distributors and of exhibitors, establish that each distributor can ask a maximum rental percentage of 50%, for a number of features not exceeding one fifth of their new releases and provided that they make known the titles of those films at the beginning of the season.

The global number of all foreign and native feature films in circulation are officially estimated 6,000 at the end of 1954, including many reissues of American pictures. According to the SIAE, only 143 features were withdrawn from the market in 1955 and probably only temporarily.

Custom fees and other duties: On July 7, 1950, the Annecy Agreement was slightly changed. Besides the general regulations of the Section 4 concerning films, the agreement considers the following custom fees for Italy: Sound track, four lira per meter; negative: newsreels, 10 lira per meter; films less than 10 mm: eight lira; from 10 mm to less than 35 mm: (a) if educational, five lira; (b) if feature film, 60 lira; 35 mm and more: (a) educational, 10 lira; (b) features, 50 lira.

In addition the tax on receipts of 3% must be paid on the amount of custom fees.

A frozen deposit of 5,500,000 lire untill December 31, 1960, has to be made for each non-native film more than 1,000 meters long and shown dubbed in the Italian version, at the Banca Nazionale Del Lavoro. The deposit will be returned without interest after seven years. In the meanwhile it is used for financing native production and for promoting the opening of new theatres in small centers as well as the installation of the new screen techniques in the already operating moviehouses. The loans on the funds made up by this compulsory deposit, must be granted at the fixed rate of discount of four per cent. Exempt from this duty are: foreign films shown in the original version with or without Italian titles foreign films from countries with which special agreement was signed (see: Financial regulations) one dubbed foreign film for each native film produced (the producer can sell his right).

Admission taxes: Under the law enacted in November 26, 1955, the tax is calculated as follows: on an admission up to 70 lire, 15% on an admission ranging from 71 to 210 lire, on the basis of the formula Y (i.e. admission tax) equals 0.593 X less (0.035 X) less 20.51, the letter "X" representing the price of the ticket not including the admission tax (on an admission ranging from 211 to 400 lire, Y equals 0.05265 X + 38.94; on an admission from 401 lire up, 60% of the price of the ticket excluded the tax. In addition, the tax on receipts must be paid on the gross income by exhibitors. Besides it, every season the Parliament approves a special fixed tax for unemployed people to be added on the admission only on Sunday or Holyday given days.

The total proceeds from admission taxes are estimated about 41.5 million U.S.A. dollars, not considering 4 million dollars for the tax on receipts and another 4 million for the tax for unemployed people. The global fiscal burden on the tickets is near to 50 million U.S. dollars, thus reaching about 27% of the global gross income of moviehouses. The share of all taxes which went to the Government budget was around 25 million dollars. Which is left went to municipalities and other organizations.

Exhibitors are obliged to grant by turns on freely established given days a reduction on the entrance fee to the members of ENAL (Entre Nazionale Assistenza Lavoratori), semi-governmental organization of workers established during the Fascism with the name of OND (Opera Nazionale Dopolavoro) and corresponding to the nazist "Arbeit and Freude". Compulsory reductions are enforced also for soldiers of the Italian Army and for children. Many categories of Government officials are entitled to free entrance.

Government censorship: All native and foreign production is subjected to Government censorship on moral and political standards. Contracts for the import of foreign films include the reserve that the contract is void if the film is not approved by the Italian censorship. The censorship is extended also to posters and other advertising material.

Though no new law has been issued, the observance of the current regulations were made stricter since 1953 to face the growing tendency of the native industry to produce pictures of lower moral standard. Applications for getting the preventive Government censorship visa (by payment of a special tax were higher in number since 1952-53 than ever before.

The matter is handled by the "Commissione Per la Revisione" which can exclude films from their sreenings in public theatres or prohibit admission to young people (under age of 16 years) or give suggestions on the sequences of the film to be cut. Presently four "Commissioni" are operating by turns. Each "Commissione" is of three members, i.e. an official of the Government Dept. for Show Business, an official of the Justice Dept. and an official of the Home Office Dept.—Against decision of those "Commissioni", application can be made to a special "Commissione di Appello" headed by the State Under-secretary.

A new law on censorship has been presented by the Government to the Parliament. It should be approved within the end of 1957, when the present regulations will be void.

Exchange Regulations: On August 8, 1956, the most important regulation, reached between M.P.E.A. and the Italian Association of Producers in 1951 and then extended many times, has been extended once more with few changes chiefly with respect to the new Italian film law. According to the agreement, import of American films to Italy is "self-limited" to 225 dubbed releases, of which 190 are reserved to the major American companies operating in Italy, 20 features to the United Artists and 15 features to the Allied Artists. The United Artists production is released in Italy through the Italian distributing company DEAR Film, and the Allied Artists through Italian independent distributors.

Besides it, each American company must release at least one picture of their quota through an Italian independent distributor.

Under the same agreement the American industry gave the Italian industry almost freely the amount of frozen compulsory deposit of 4,000 dollars for each dubbed picture released in the precedent years: which was estimated a gift of about five million dollars.

The new MPEA-ANICA agreement establishes also that three million dollars each year is the global amount of the official free remittances consented to the American companies operating in Italy which is about a 20 to 25 per cent of the global profits of the American companies in that market. The remittances can be made quarterly.

What is left must be deposited in frozen accounts in Italy and can be used by the American companies only for the following purposes:—as to 40 per cent of them, for motion picture activity in Italy;—as to 60 per cent for other industrial purposes also in Italy.

The agreement with France for coproduction has been extended to the end of December 1957. It is likely it will be renewed at the expiration date. According to this agreement pictures produced with the cooperation of French and Italian firms will be granted all Government benefits and subsidies for native production in both the countries. Since the beginning of the agreement to the end of 1955, the Italian-French films coproduced under these regulations were about 140. The leading coproduction in 1955 as to the box-office, was "La Più Bella Donna Del Mondo" (The Most Beautiful Woman In The World) featuring Gina Lollobrigida.

The agreement with Germany, signed in 1952 for the first time, has been extended to the end of August 1957. Under this agreement, the exchange of pictures between Germany and Italy is free in the original version. For pictures to be dubbed only 30 permits can be yearly granted by each Government with the possibility of eventual exceptions. Earnings of dubbed pictures can be remitted to the respective country where they were produced. Only twelve coproductions per year are admitted to benefit of subsidies and facilities granted by each of the two Governments to the native production.

Both in the agreement with France and in that one with Germany, a tri-partners coproduction system has also been established. Under this term, all pictures produced by an Italian, a German and a French company can benefit from all subsidies granted by the respective Governments. There is no limitation to this kind of coproductions. However, only three were the pictures produced under these regulations, at least up to the end of June 1956.

Under the agreement signed in 1952 and extended to the end of 1956 between the British Film Producers Association and the Italian Association of Producers, all British films dubbed in the Italian version are exempted from the frozen compulsory deposit of 5,500,000 lire at the Banca Nazionale del Lavoro. However, the British exporter must pay 750 pounds for each picture to the special B.F.P.A.-ANICA fund in London. This money is yearly shared among British distributors and exhibitors of Italian films dubbed in the English version. Coproductions can be consented only case by case.

Another agreement between Argentina and Italy was reached in 1952 by which 30 Italian pictures can be imported in Argentina and 10 Argentina pictures in Italy every year with the remittance of earnings to the respective country where the film was produced. The agreement included also an arrangement for the Italian-Argentinian coproductions the number of which per year has been not yet established.

In March 1953 was signed the agreement between the Spanish and Italian Government, by which for pictures to be dubbed only 30 permits per year will be granted by the Italian Government to the Spanish production and vice-versa. Earnings can be remitted. The agreements includes also a three-partners-coproduction system, by which all pictures made by an Italian and a Spanish producer with a producer of another country, can benefit from the facilities and subsidies granted by their Government to the native production. The third producer, however, must belong to a country which has a coproduction agreement with Italy or with Spain. The agreement with Spain expires at the end of 1956, but it will be extended.

Coproductions with firms of other countries are also permitted provided that proper application be made to the Government Dept. For Show Business which decides case by case in view of encouraging the flow of foreign capitals to the native industry. Temporary import and export of films can be consented in order to facilitate exchange and sale of them in Italy and abroad. Under a 1954 decision of the Ministry of Finance, the share of proceeds belonging to the foreign producer for pictures directly released in Italy even in the dubbed version, is free from the 3% tax on receipts.

The same law puts forth many direct and indirect subsidies to the native production which presently total about 18 million USA dollars and include the subsidy to the producer of feature film in the fixed amount of 16 percent of the gross income; the subsidy of 1.75 percent of gross income to the producer of newsreels; awards in money to the producers of shorts and documentaries; the discount of 20 percent of admission taxes to the exhibitors when screening Italian films; the compulsory projection of Italian features for 25 given days quarterly and for all movie-houses; subsidies to film industry organizations, exhibits in Italy and abroad, etc. In the new law five special subsidies (called prizes) were also established to be granted each year to outstanding pictures.

General Conditions And Outlook: The global gross receipts for native and foreign pictures were about 117 billion lire (187 million dollars) in 1955 of which almost 60% went to American productions (108 million dollars), thus getting from the Italian market 16 percent more than in the precedent year. The Italian production shared less than 35% of the global receipts (i.e. about 65 million dollars), the remaining 14 million dollars going chiefly to British (6.5 million dollars) and to French (3.2 million dollars) productions.

The tax on entrance fee is still about 24% of the gross receipts in the average. Including other taxes and burdens it is estimated that one-third of gross receipts goes to the Government or to Government operated agencies.

Also in 1955, motion pictures keep being the most popular amusement in Italy. According to the SIAE, the Italian people spend more for the movies than any other country of the Continental Europe and with respect to the inhabitants they are second only to Britain. Motion picture gets in Italy about 79 percent of the global expenses for all kind of amusements and represents about one per cent of the national gross income. Given days were two million and 10,000 in 1955. About 820 million were the tickets sold in 1955 with an average entrance fee of about 23 cents (U.S.A.). The average Italian goes to the movies 17 times in the year with a yearly expense of about 3.9 dollars.

Gross receipts which were 11% higher in 1955 than in 1954 are expected to remain at the same amount in 1956, or to have a slight increase (probably they will raise to 190 million dollars), in spite of the steady increase in ticket prices (8.50% in 1955). As a matter of fact, a sharp drop in the number of tickets sold was booked in the beginning of 1956, chiefly due to the exceptionally bad weather, and to the shortage of outstanding pictures. The situation however, could better in the second half of 1956, also on considering the new theatres opened in South Italy and the new consumers of movies in the undeveloped areas.

The box-office hits of the season 1955-56 were: "Pane, Amore E . . ."; "La Più Bella Donna Del Mondo"; "Summertime"; "To Catch A Thief"; "East Of Eden"; "Marcelino, Pan Y Vino"; "Marty"; "The Desperate Hours"; "Amici Per La Pelle"; etc.

Business of exhibition was very good in 1955. The average gross receipts of each theatre was 17,600 US dollars in the year, which is ten percent more than in the precedent year. The competition of TV which was poor in 1955, is growing remarkably more and more in 1956, chiefly in small towns where bars and inns put into operation TV receivers thus attracting patrons from movie-houses. It is even frequent more and more that bars and inns receive a price (from 5 to 15 cents) from the people who want to see the TV shows.

The TV competition started to be worrying with a special show imitating the American telequiz "60,000 dollars for one question" (in Italy it is called: "Do you give up or do you double?").

In spite of a slight reduction on the tax on entrance fee, some exhibitors may face a crisis if they do not adopt the new screen technique. It is quite clear from all most recent figures that the people desert black and white pictures or pictures in the conventional size, except in the case they are real masterpieces.

The situation of distribution is bad chiefly for the fiscal burdens, but also because most of them are involved in some productions which were a failure. The rental percentage is about 40 percent. It raises up to 50 percent in some established cases. Only very exceptionally it can be more than that rate.

Cost of production went up about 20 percent in 1955 when considering an average picture. However the cost of a good picture was quite higher on account of the wider use of the color and of the new filming techniques, and chiefly of the high salaries paid to the actors and directors. The average cost of the black and white feature is around 250,000 dollars and the average cost of colored pictures around 350,000 dollars which climbs up to more than 500,000 dollars when new filming processes are adopted. However, after "War And Peace", no other film has been produced in Italy which cost more than 500,000 dollars.

The use of foreign and also American actors and directors, writers and technicians is still common practice in Italy.

About half of the cost of the production was the average return for the Italian film in the Italian market, including the Government subsidy. Considering the exports, only two-thirds of the Italian cost of production is paid back. 80,000 dollars for each film and around 10 million dollars in the whole is the deficit of the Italian film production. From 50 to 60 per cent of the Italian production are in deficit even considering the Government subsidies and exports.

The Italian production is facing a crisis, chiefly due to the shortage of financial means and to the extremely high costs. The production of films was almost stopped at the beginning of 1956 and was resumed only in view of the enforcement of the new law. The number of feature films is predicted that will be not more than 120 in 1956, i.e. about 20% less than in 1955.

In spite of the enactment of the new law, the producers know that it is more difficult than ever before to make good pictures and to arouse the interest of the audience. For this reason they try to improve and to enlarge the coproduction system, thus hoping to find in foreign markets the coverage of expenses which cannot be found in the home market only.

JAPAN

Number of theatres in operation: 4,769 (in addition are operated by the U.S. Armed Forces).

Number of feature films released during 1955: 608 (413 produced in Japan, of which 10 were color; 195 imported).

Japanese features produced during 1955: 413 (Toei 106, Shochiku 68, Daiei 59, Shin Toho 51, Toho 39, Nikkatsu 53, independents 38). In addition some 500 short subjects, not including newsreels, were produced.

Number of imported features released in 1955: 195 (U.S. 134, Great Britain 18, France 23, Italy 9, West Germany 2, others 9).

Annual attendance in 1955: 877,000,000.

Seating Capacity of Japanese theatres: 2,252,280.

Censorship: Censorship is prohibited by the Japanese Constitution. A self regulatory board set up by the industry reviews both Japanese and imported pictures to see that they are in line with the Motion Picture Code of Ethics.

Admission tax: A sliding scale prevails with a maximum of 50% on the most expensive admissions and scaling down to 10% on the cheapest. Such taxes in 1955 brought the government $31.4 million.

Royalty tax: Imported films from U.S.A., 15-20%; films imported from elsewhere, 20%.

Financial exchange regulations: Due to Japan's present favorable foreign exchange situation remittance rates on funds accrued have been raised to 22% from the basic 14% previously prevailing in the dollar area, and to 25% from the previous basic rate of 19% for the sterling or other currency areas. The balance of unremitted funds is blocked in Japan. Within three years it is predicted that Japan will have free and open markets for films without quota or remittance restrictions. However, in the above figures it should be noted that 78% of the funds are retained in the case of American dollar countries (called global areas by the Japanese), and 75% in the case of non-global areas (which incldues British pounds, francs and all other currencies). Of this retained fund the Japanese government takes their royalty tax of 15% to 20%, depending on circumstances, and then permits the owner of the film to retain an average of 30% in "domestic yen" for local operating expenses, salaries, publicity, etc. What remains goes into the blocked account.

Principal theatre circuits: Toho, Shochiku, Nikkatsu.

General Conditions and Outlook: The outlook in Japan is that 1957 will break the admission record set in 1956 when every man, woman and child in the country averaged 10 trips to the cinema. New theaters are in the process of construction. As yet, there is little or no competition from TV, though the number of sets is increasing. The film quota for imports will probably be kept at 164, plus a number of "bonus" imports for companies exporting money-making films. American companies will import at least 102 films. Japanese currency allocations for imports have been raised to $11.5 million from $5.28 million of which $9 million will be set aside from remittances to be used to unfreeze the funds held in Japan. During 1956 American film companies loaned $7.5 million of the frozen funds to the country's electric industry for development purposes, and this loan will become remittable in six years.

Total distribution revenue for 1956 was $92.5 million of which imported films earned $32.9 million; total box office receipts were $186 million (foreign films $57.7 million).

Average production cost of making a Japanese film in black and white was $72,000; color $194,000; and distribution expenses including printing costs, publicity, etc. was $41,800.

Japanese movie equipment for domestic use and export has made tremendous strides. Locally-made color film is supplanting the imported; in 1956 Japan manufactured over 245 million feet of B-W positive, and 14 million feet of negative and sound positive respectively.

Admission prices for movies range from $2.78 for road shows to $.08, with an average of $.21.

LEBANON

Number of theatres: 71

Number of pictures imported: Greater percentage from U.S., with Egypt, France and Great Britain following. American pictures are still the most important resources for the exhibitors. Italian pictures come in the second class, and after the French pictures. Egyptian Pictures, because of Arabic talking, oriental music and dances, have special interest to people. 1955 showed top income ever recorded in motion picture industry in Lebanon, the Indian picture "Aan Mangala" was the subject, distributed by Talhameh & Magardish. Whenever, wherever projected, theatres are full up, reservations are made days ago. The Italian picture "Batar" comes in the second class, distributed by Adnan Daratani. Third picture to come was the "Desire" of Fox Film. Fourth "grand Jeu" French. As to Arabic Pictures, the Egyptian "Story of My Love" distributed by Theodore Khayat comes the first among Arabic talking pictures, fifth in international class in Lebanon.

Censorship: All pictures before being exhibited should pass through the censorship board against payment of £L.25.- per kilo. In case the pictures are approved, they may then be projected to people. During 1955 eight pictures were refused by the Board. Reasons of refusal were contradiction to the national feeling. According to the law foreign pictures should be subtitled in Arabic. Many local firms are now in a position to subtitle pictures for Lebanese importers and even for other Arabic countries.

Customs: Custom duties are as follows: for talking pictures: maximum rate £L.50.- minimum rate £L.25.- per kilo; for silent pictures: maximum rate £L.25.- minimum rate £L.12.50 per kilo; for pictures imported of Agricultural subjects, for farmers assistance pay only 25% ad valorem.

Admissions: Admissions to theatres are from 50 to 100 and up to 150 piasters for orchestra & balcony seats. Because of earthquake occuring during March last, Government has increased taxes on all entertainment admissions. Now patrons pay 10, 25 & 10 piastres on the above rates. Moreover the above figures include Army taxes. Municipal taxes on theatres are £L.290.- on first class houses, £L.240.- & £L.200.- on second & third classes.

Financial Regulations and exchange rates: Since no more war conditions existing, no regulations are governing import of pictures and accordingly foreign currencies are available to any one. Commercial rates of same are: $.1.- equals £L.3.25; £.1.- equals 900; 1000 French Francs equal £L.8.00; 1 Sw. F. equals £L.0.75; 1000 Itl. lires equal £L.0.500 & 1 Ind. Roupy equals 0.65.*

Production: Two studios are built in Beirut. One of them is now producing, "Al-Arz Studio" belonging to "Kassab & Kairouz". Pictures produced: "Azab El Dameer" (Conscience Torture) & "Zouhour Hamra" (Red Flours). The other studio is under construction and owned by The Syrian & Lebanese Co. for Production of Pictures. One French Picture was released in Lebanon (La Chatelaine du Liban).

Motion Pictures Association of Lebanon: President Kaisar Younis, Vice-President, Mohamed Khaled Sabban.

General Conditions & outlook: Motion picture industry activity was so good during the past season. The pictures most popularly liked were of U.S. origin, Italian & French. One Indian picture had the best income ever obtained in Lebanon. Egyptian pictures also sympathized because of International-Arabic-Oriental feeling and Arabic talking. The coming year is expected to satisfy. The only unsatisfying question to independent importers is that question of blocks to be bought by them. If they could have a selection from U.S. pictures, same as they do with European pictures, they could be so lucky.

In Beirut, the Capital and main city in Lebanon, 30 picture-houses over 71 are located. New fashion is arising herein these days, that is six theatres took places in the neighbourhood of the town. More are expected. These houses are nearest than those located in the center.

General conditions and outlook: Pictures continue to more than hold first place in Mexico's paid public amusements, with Hollywood leading, as usual. There is less complaint about business—theatres are doing better than ever, particularly in Mexico City. Exhibitors have about resigned themselves to no possibility of breaking the .32-cent admission price ceiling established in December, 1952, until after November 30, 1958, when ends the six-year term of the present City Government. More business—queues are again common—appears to be enabling exhibitors to counteract higher costs, mostly wages and taxes. The stage is much less competition, and though TV is coming up more, it is not yet hurting film box office. However, exhibitors joined stage organizations in urging the Government to reject the application for permission to play Mexico by the Ringling Bros.-Barnum & Bailey Circus, on the ground that the bigtop would be "unfair competition" as they expected it would syphon off too much business.

Mexicans are doing better than expected in their drive for more playing places. Mexicans contracted the important Cadena de Oro (Golden Chain) Circuit to play their pictures exclusively for 20 weeks to three years. The Circuit's flagship, the Cine Alameda, Mexico City, this country's pioneer de luxe theatre, which assumed the three-year ball on March 1, played such winners as "With Whom do Our Daughters Associate?" which drew queues in its seventh week. More than ever, Mexican trade leaders are demanding better stories—Governmenters for the sake of art and Mexico's prestige, the businessmen for the sake of plain business. The outbreak of female nakedness exhibitions in Mexican films was promptly stamped out by the Catholic League of Decency compelling stricter censorship for all pictures. Business that such pictures as "Daughters" and the Italian-Japanese "Madame Butterfly" (13 weeks at the same full-size theatre) did demonstrate that actresses with few to no clothes at all on are not the top recipe for strong business. Fewer exhibitors are for forced exhibitions: 50 per cent for Mexicans.

The industry sees good going. But its customary dread is absent this year: the biannual revision of collective labor contracts, always featuring pay hikes. The revision in mid 1955 holds until the summer of 1957. And no tax increases are in sight, the Government apparently considering that present rates are adequate because of the greater business the theatres are doing—and potentially bigger public: the Administration sees Mexico's population at 30.5 million on June 30.

TV, though, is threatening serious competition to theatres in an important sector of the provinces, the midwestern States of Queretaro, Guanajuato and Hidalgo and part of Michoacan State, with service, through a relay in Queretaro State that Televisistema is completing, that it calculates will have a public of 3,000,000. The National Cinematographic Industry Chamber fears that this service will close at least 60 theatres in the zone.

Censorship: All films must be reviewed by a censor, who classes them for Adult or General Exhibition. New regulations confer upon the censor the right to issue special certificates wherein various age groups are not admitted to the theatres. This classification must be advertised and displayed at the Box Office.

Admission Tax: On 1/9 Nil, 2/- 3d; 2/6 3d 3/- 4d; 3/6 5d;. On admission over three shillings six pence one penny for every shilling or part thereof, plus two pence.

Industry legislation: The industry is controlled, both distribution and exhibition interest being licensed and required to conduct their particular sections of the industry within the regulations of the Cinematograph Films Act 1928 and subsequent amendments. The Film Board, consisting of exhibitors (both Circuit and Independent) distributors and Government officials, under the chairmanship of a magistrate, sit regularly to discuss industry problems.

Principal theatre circuits: Amalgamated Theatres Ltd. Roxy Theatre Buildings, Auckland; Kerridge Odeon Theatres, St. James Theatre Buildings, Queen St., Auckland; Christchurch Cinemas Ltd. Regent Theatre Buildings, Christchurch.

General Conditions and Outlook: Another good year was experienced in the film trade in N.Z. The boost given by wide screen presentation of one sort or another aroused public interest and undoubtedly built up the box office. A further number of Cinemascope installations have been made and many others have installed wide screens. The demand for good product continues and Distributors have been able to obtain bigger hires as exhibitors experience shortage of availability of films. The existence of two camps of exhibitors, Cinemascope and non-Cinemascope has had the effect of dividing up the product so that the former have to look to Fox, Metro, Warners and R.K.O. for their supplies, and the latter to Paramount, Columbia, J. Arthur Rank, Universal and United Artists. The necessity of having to obtain products from a group of sellers reduces the competition and increases the price. Many exhibitors in N.Z. could not possibly afford to install Cinemascope and must therefore carry on without those films that are made only in the anamorphic process. So far it has not affected their businesses whatsoever and when standard or Wide Screen prints of Cinemascope productions are also available their supply position is really good.

The Box office response in the main cities here indicates very forcibly that the publics choice is for entertainment regardless of width, depth or colour. Picture after picture that has no scope whatsoever succeeds in drawing large crowds in direct opposition to their bigger or more colourful relations. It is obvious that the public couldn't care less about the various techniques and is prepared to select and support the films that appeal because of their intrinsic worth measured in terms of entertainment. The future looks assured as no problems of any real size seem to present themselves at the moment. Trade is generally buoyant and overseas prices for primary product although suffering a slight drop are still comfortably high. Wage increases to workers in all trades and businesses are continually being granted and a recent large increase to Civil Servants will increase the flow of spending money, a deal of which will no doubt find it's way into theatre box offices.

NORWAY

Number of theatres in operation: 577. (This number gives quite a false picture of the possibilities as around 50% of this number gross only one million kroner per year together).

Theatres divide into: 191 municipal, 131 private houses, 233 association and club cinemas, 21 others. In addition comes NORSK BYGDEKINO A/S (Mainly State and Municipal owned touring company, showing film in remote places by automobiles and small boats), and also a few private mobile companies. The municipal cinemas stand for approximately 84% of the country's turnover. Each municipal cinema or a town's group of cinemas, where there are two or more, are operated by a manager who answers to a political board of representatives from the three leading parties: Socialists, Right and Left.

Number of films passed through censorship during 1955: 365: America 188, England 45; Sweden, 29; France, 26; Italy, 22; Denmark, 10; Norway, 6; Russia, 9; Germany, 27; Poland, 1; Finland, 1; Switzerland, 1.

Admission taxes: 40% of total boxoffice. Cultural pictures are taxfree after application to and decision by Government. When a cultural taxfree short is attached a feature, the whole program obtains an added 2% more filmrental, and tax reduced to 36%, instead of 40%.

Censorship: All films must be approved by Statens Filmkontroll (Government Censorship Board). Three kinds of certificates are issued: Yellow, for adults (over 16); red, for all audiences over 7 years; green, for audiences over 12 years; white—banned. Two pictures were banned in 1955: NEW YORK CONFIDENTIAL, JACK SLADE. Censorship Fee: features, 8 ore meter; shorts, 8 ore per meter; documentaries, 2 ore per meter. (16 mm. films are converted into 35 mm. by multiplying number of meters by 2.5 before total censorship fee is figured out, based on respectively 8 ore, 8 ore, and 2 ore per meter).

Customs Fees: N. kr. 8.—per kilogram.

There is further a number of smaller distributors, and firms specializing in educational, cultural and political topics.

General Conditions and Outlook: The total of imported films was in 1955, 365 against 395 in 1954. The American number dropped to 188 against 215, down 27. French down from 36 to 26, England up from 30 to 45, Italy from 19 to 22. If the situation is analyzed, however, one will find that a great number of the European films really are either American co-productions or films with American world-distribution rights, so that although the number of fully American films has decreased, the actual American controlled pictures have in reality gone up.

There has still been a small rise in the all-over business, a growth from 59 million kroner to 62.5.

The Rental Agreement between the Municipal National Board and the M.P.E.A. is prolonged without changes, still calling for a 40% flat, with rights for the American companies to ask for higher rental for two films per company,—this not being executed practicanda as American and Norwegian views seem to differ on which type of films deserves a higher filmrental. The Americans are apt to suggest higher terms on their super colossal productions, while the Norwegian film authorities feel the increased rental should be a premium for social, cultural, or artistic films with such merits. But as most of those films perhaps have to struggle businesswise anyhow, it seems that the Americans do not find it economically paying to obtain higher rentals on such productions for fear that the cinema managers then might be reluctant in their bookings.

The cinemascope-wiring has speeded up, the country now having theatres in operation and 47 scheduled. The capital, Oslo, is very unfortunate in having only two first runs and two second runs wired for cinemascope. At least three new installations, however, will be made in summer 1956.

Censors are taking a much sterner view on "hard" films, not only on "gangsters" and "criminals," but even on wild-wests. It is seldom that a film is directly banned, but cutting is getting more severe. The press of the country continuously whips up sentiment against hard film, and newspapers are filled with letters to the editors.

After the not so well arranged subsidy system for domestic production last year, the Government turned the other way, with the result that for many, many months domestic production came to a complete standstill. New systems are now worked out, and Norwegian production is starting again, although this time very carefully and limited.

PAKISTAN

Number of theatres in operation: 220 approximately, besides 40 travelling cinemas in the rural area. Over 100 new cinemas were established during the last four to five years; a dozen more are likely to be set up during the current year.

Production: The producers were in "most comfortable position" with the ban imposed on the importation of Indian films. Obviously, it gave a fillip to the home industry and encouraged capital investment besides eliminating possibilities of a keen competition, for India and Pakistan dub their films in commonly spoken languages, names Urdu and Bengali.

Imports: The ban imposed on the import of Indian films as a sequel to India's attitude in regard to proposed reciprocal exchange of films by the two countries spread a deep wave of resentment and several cinema houses of Western Pakistan threatened to go on strike. About 60 per cent cinema houses had to screen 3rd run pictures and the Cine Exhibitors collectively made protestation and appeals to the Prime Minister of Pakistan.

The restrictions imposed on the import of Indian films has brought a tremendous change in the cinema and musical life of the people. Several cinema houses of the country switched on to exhibiting English and American Films and realized to their amazement that the general people—the film fans—had developed a wide and still-growing-popular interest in English and American films. The year of 1953 thus marked the beginning of a new chapter in the theatrical life of the country and today the American and English films are more popular than Indian films in Pakistan. Besides U. K. and U. S. A., France, Spain, Egypt, Lebanon and Turkey have shown a very keen interest in Pakistan and have recently signed agreements with some distributors here to exhibit their films in this country.

Legislation: The Indian Cinematograph Act of 1918 has been ipso facto adapted in Pakistan with minor changes here and there. The Board of Censors, manned by officials and non-officials allows no obscene, anti-Islamic or communist propaganda films to be exhibited in the country.

Principal producers: Crescent Film Corp., Karachi; Dewan Pictures, Fazli Films, Indo-American Films Ltd., Nigaristan Productions, Zeenat Pictures, Shahnoor Films—all of Lahore.

Of the producers in Pakistan, hardly 8 or 10 have previous experience of the art of production. Among the principal producers, Fazli, Shaukat, W. Z. Ahmed, Sadiq, Nazir, Rafiq, Anwar and Dewan Sardari Lal—all of Lahore—are prominent. Four newly established concerns: Indo-American Films, Ltd., Nigaristan Productions, Zeenat Pictures and Shahnoor Films, all of Lehore, have also acquired renown during the past years. Besides Mr. W. Z. Ahmed and Dewan Sardari Lal, two new producers, Mr. Aziz Ahmed and Mr. S. H. Bayat have also established producing concerns at Karachi and half a dozen new companies have been floated recently in the Federal Capital of Pakistan to start production. On the whole, the nascent film industry of Pakistan has ushered into a new era of hope and it has progressed and developed at a phenomenal pace during the last twelve months.

The Ministry of Information is devoting considerable sums to film some of the most important cultural treasures and national monuments scattered in various places of the far flung country beside some documentary films covering important national events which all cinema houses are to exhibit compulsorily. The immense cultural and educational significance of films is yet to be realized by the state as well as the film industry in Pakistan.

Studios: Pancholi Studios, Lahore, and Shaukat Pictures, Lahore; Shahnoor Films, Lahore; Karachi Studios, Karachi; Pakistan Studios, Ltd.

Taxes: The tax rate in Pakistan is perhaps the highest in the world. Besides Re. 1 per linear foot penalty on illegally imported Indian films, 20% sales tax on value of right to exhibit, six pies per linear foot; import duty; and the octroi duty, the State Exchequer exacts 50 per cent entertainment tax on every ticket sold.

General conditions and outlook: Despite economic debacles and poverty, Pakistan's culture is experiencing a rapid development with new ethical values and this great cultural transformation, which has immensely raised the social level of Pakistani people, is becoming bearer of a new culture with the recent changes in the political life of the country and its foreign relations. The new Government encourages the creativeness of the people and cultivation of music and dance. The composers, musicians and writers enjoy a distinct and unique position in society, and social life has undergone a revolutionary transformation. CinemaScope has been a real success in Pakistan and there are chances that several cinema houses of Karachi and Lahore may open with a wide screen in spite of the heavy expenses involved. On the whole, the trade has a bright future in Pakistan and the number of cinemas in this country may increase six to eight times in the near future with general improvement in the internal economic conditions of Pakistan.

PANAMA

A free market for U. S. films. Import permits are not required nor are there any restrictions against free transfer of funds. The medium of exchange is U. S. currency.

PUERTO RICO

Number of theatres in operation: 168.
Number of Distributors: 20.

Film Imports: An increase of 20 percent in imports from the United States mainland, principal market and source of supply for the motion picture industry was registered due to great number of movies used by television stations. Features from Mexico, Spain, Argentina, England, Italy also increase slightly, in the importation registers.

Several of the United States distributors operating in San Juan also ship some of the features and newsreels to U. S. Virgin Islands, Dominican Republic and other adjacent islands where they operate branch offices.

Admission excises: Excise taxes collected at box offices in motion picture theatres during fiscal year 1954-55 amounted to $871,199, a drop of $231,149 compared with the $1,002,348 collected in the preceeding year. This drop is attributed to competition of television with the big movies, according to the Department of the Treasury.

There are over 100,000 television sets in Puerto Rico, with two large stations operating in San Juan and a small one at Mayaguez. Permits have been granted for the construction of a large television station for educational purposes by the Government of Puerto Rico, and for another small T.V. station in the city of Caguas. The two large commercial television stations are: WAPA-TV, channel 4, and WKAQ-Radio, El Mundo.

Vigue Film Productions Inc. is producing newsreels that are exhibited daily by television and weekly newsreels at the motion picture houses. Cine Productions Inc., is also producing television newsreels for daily exhibition. Hamilton Wright Organization produces color films and newsreels for the government or to promote tourism.

Censorship: None on imports from the United States. The Custom House officials require the screening of foreign films before exhibition. A bill has been introduced in the Puerto Rican legislature to establish a movies censorship board. Customs fees and other duties: U.S. imports pay 2 cents per lineal foot. Imports from foreign countries pay the same tax, plus the U.S. tariff duty of one-half cent per lineal foot.

Admission taxes: 20% tax in admission if charge exceeds 20 cents; if less than 20 cents no tax admission is paid, according to legislation enacted this year. Principal industry organizations: Film Board of Trade; Cobian Film Center, Puerta de Tierra, San Juan, P.R. MP Operators Union (AFL-CIO) has collective bargaining pact with all exhibitors.

Principal distributors or film exchanges: Columbia Pictures of Puerto Rico; Peliculas Mejicanas, Universal Films, 20th Century Fox, Metro (MGM) Puerto Rico, United Artists, Republic Pictures, Paramount International Films, RKO Radio Pictures, Fernando J. Cortes e Hijos, Corporacion Planas, Selecciones Iberoamericanas, General Film Exchange, all located at Cobian Film Center, Puerta de Tierra, Stop 8, San Juan, P.R.

Rafael G. Marti, and Warner Brothers, located at Avenida Fernandez Juncos 600, Santurce, P.R. Vigue Film Productions at Hato Rey, P.R.

General conditions and outlook: The highlights of Puerto Rico Balance of Payments for fiscal year ended June 30, 1955, as officially reported by the planning board were:

1. An increase of about $50 million in merchandise imports to a record level of $583 million, chiefly from the United States market due to the advantage of free trade relations of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico and the U. S.

2. Almost no expansion in merchandise exports for the first time since 1945-46.

3. A rise in net United States government transfer payments to individuals and businesses to a total of $83 million in 1954-55 compared with $41 million in 1953-54.

4. Imports of external capital expanded substantially from $74 million in 1953-54 to $104 million in 1954-55, due to the industrialization program.

The tourist trade is being developed considerably with the construction of new resort hotels and recreation facilities, including plans for new movie houses and other places of entertainment. Visitors to Puerto Rico spent $23 million in 1954-55, a rise of 8 percent from the preceeding year. An even greater increase is expected in the future. The increase in visitors' expenditures is in line with the extraordinary expansion in travel payments by American residents during last year.

Employment in manufacturing industries last year totaled 69,022 while wages and salaries in this field totaled $84 million.

Puerto Rico's net income last year was $982 million or 331 percent higher than in 1940. Per capita income however, is lower than in the lowest states of the American union, as follows. For 1955 it was $434, a gain of 255% over 1940 level.

Television will continue to cut a wide swath into movie attendance, but the trend is for big pictures.

While the tourist trade tries to get people out of their homes and television sets to go traveling, the movies try to get them into the theatres offering color CinemaScope, and other modern methods of motion picture projection.

Higher wages will be paid in Puerto Rico in accordance with legislature enacted by the Commonwealth Legislature this year, setting a minimum of $1 an hour rate for 18 industries, and higher rates for agriculture. A $19 million public works program and a $50 housing construction plan are under way. Foreign films in color are attracting movie goers in Puerto Rico but the Hollywood product continues to hold the lead in imports and popular acceptance.

Seating capacity: 2,300,000.

Average weekly attendance: 5,800,000 (over 300,000,000 per year).

Average number of inhabitants per theatre: 6,260.

Average number of inhabitants per seat: 12.

Number of theatres (16 mm) in operation: Over 2,000 (in local and private clubs, colleges, etc.).

Censorship: The new Classification and Censorship Board (Junta de Clasificación y Censura) review all imported and domestic pictures through its two Censorship and Classification Commissions.

Censorship Board. This body sorts out imported pictures under these three lines: "apt to olders," "tolerated for youngsters" and "prohibited." Prohibited pictures are entitled to be replaced by others or to the reimbursement of customs duties involved. In the Classification Board these very pictures are classed into three categories in order to Customs duties payment.

The Spanish pictures being classified by the Censorship according to exhibition effects, are moreover classified into three categories which permit the granting of import and dubbing licenses. Two for the first category, one for the second, and none for the third category. Films of "National Interest" are granted with a one more dubbing license. This system will shortly be modified with new regulations.

The duties are 10 pesetas for reel and for each copy.

Customs duties and fees: 4'50 gold pesetas for each kilo of raw material. Picture classified in the first category, 75,000 pesetas; in second category, 50,000 pesetas and third, 25,000 pesetas. Documentary: first-rate 3,000 pesetas, second 2,000 pesetas and third 1,000 pesetas.

Admission taxes: Taxes on gross earnings of cinemas: 30 per cent uses and excise taxes. 5 per cent collected for the poor. Taxes on the capacity of the theatres: 5 per cent payment to Exchequer and an overcharge of 30 per cent on this payment. Author's rights: 0'30 per cent up to 0'90 per cent on the capacity of the cinema. They are at present considering an increase of this right up to 1'25 per cent.

Industry legislation: There are several different orders on official protection, the most important being the following: Loans to production—On November 11, 1941 an order was issued which established credit for all the producers of Spanish pictures asking for it. Under this credit a maximum of 40 per cent of the total budget of the picture is granted, having an account determined requisites. This credit is issued by the Sindicato Nacional del Espectaculo from funds supplied by the Ministry of Industry, but indications are that they will disappear when new regulations come into force, being replaced by a subsidy or award, according to film's quality. Awards—Six awards are granted annually to feature national production and same number to shorts. The awards are: 500,000, 450,000, 400,000, 350,000, 300,000, 250,000 for the features and 50,000, 45,000, 40,000 35,000, 30,000 and 25,000 pesetas respectively for the shorts. Some years they are modified on the very moment of their granting. Importation permits—On September the 13th, 1951, an agreement was signed in Paris between Spain and the United States, which was ratified on January the 22nd, 1952, in Madrid by Undersecretary of Foreign Economy Department of the Ministry of Commerce, D. Jaime Alba; Undersecretary of the Ministry of Information and Tourism, D. Manuel Cerviá, on behalf of Spain, and Mr. Stanton Griffis representing the S.I.M.P.P. and Mr. A. J. Healey as delegate of the M.P.A.A. The agreement established the coming to Spain as normal import, and without any more formal measures, of one hundred American pictures, sixty of them by first rate American producers through their branches or Agencies in Spain, and forty by qualified Spanish importers from other Companies.

But this agreement did not come into force yet. Therefore, practically, the trade is operating the old system of granting two licenses to first rate Spanish films; one to those of second and none of any European to those of third. These licenses are sold to American producers or importers, and their present price is about 800,000 pesetas (16,000 dollars). Theoretically the dubbing is abolished, but dubbing licenses are granted to Spanish producers in such a quantity that every foreign film has its license. They are sold at 50,000 pesetas ($1,000).

General conditions and outlook: Production, which was down in 1951 is slowly recovering its position, and it is noted that more and more Swedish films participate in international competition at film festivals. Production of color films seem to increase, as more and more producers turn to Gevacolor process. 3-D came and passed away in 1953. People just were not interested, and today all 3-D films are screened as 2-D here. CinemaScope also entered the market, and did much better than 3-D, but has to face difficulties because of expensive rebuildings of cinemas for screening CinemaScope. None of the greater theatre circuits (as Svensk Filmindustri with around 100 houses all over Sweden, etc.) have showed any interest in CinemaScope so far. The attitude seems to be "wait-and-see" if CinemaScope will be holding its position at the market, or if another and more sensational screening method will appear in near future. This, however, means a golden age for those few cinemaowners who are showing CinemaScope—they can at least be sure of getting "sold out" at the performances.

Swedish State Censorship Board (Statens Biografbyrå) announced a change of their censoring methods—if the Swedish Parliament says OK to the suggestion by Jan-Gunnar Lindström, president of the Censorship Board. At the present, all films are divided into three categories: White seal which means totally banned, Red seal which goes for general audiences, and Yellow seal which mean the film is not to be shown for those under 15. The censors want the last category to be changed into two different. One should make films free for only people over 8, and second for only over 16.

Another suggestion of the censors is the opening of a special Board of Appeals. This should consist of representative for Censorship, Film Producers and Distributors, Medical Science, Psychiatrists, Children's Education Organizations, etc. In "doubtful" cases, the censors could ask for advice of this board. It should also be possible for a distributor who isn't satisfied with the Censorship's decisions to ask this board to see the film. However, this Board should only be to give advice, and their opinion will not be able to change stipulations from the censors. The latter, however, promise to take care of the advice they will get.

SWITZERLAND

Number of theatres in operation: About 540.

Feature production 1955/56: "Heidi and Peter". "Uli, the Tenant" and "Policeman Wackerli".

Censorship: In peace time there is no national censorship. Authorities of the cantons, or of the towns or communities, censor, but almost only when action is brought against the film by some citizens or local associations or religious authorities. There is a Catholic organization with a central film bureau which classifies the films like the American Legion of Decency and which has great influence on a large number of exhibitors. Censorship is practiced on moral and religious grounds, but seldom on a political basis.

Customs and other duties: Duty on all imported films is charged by weight, but there are some additional taxes.

Admission taxes: 10 per cent generally, in many cantons or communities 15 per cent.

Legislation: There is no national legislation, but a national law concerning the motion picture is in treatment by the parliament. The cantonal authorities rule over admission of children to the theatres; generally the limit is 18 years, in many cantons 16. There are other laws concerned with theatre safety.

Government departments: Swiss Film Chamber, a branch of the cultural ministry. Although the chamber is not a legislative body, it acts in a consultative capacity, deciding questions of a general nature (preparation of the national film law, arbitration committee in controversies between theatre owners and distributors, to fix the import quota of each distributor, etc.). The Chamber consists of 14 representatives of public and cultural groups and 12 representatives of the industry (production, distribution and exhibition). Address: Langgasstrasse 8, Berne. President: Antoine Borel, Secretary: Dr. Hugo Mauerhofer. All members of the Chamber are nominated for three years by the Federal Government.

General conditions and outlook: The overall trend continues towards smaller houses. There are no indications that admissions will rise in the near future. They now run from 1.10 fr. to four or five fr. Most theatres here play single features and don't worry about such things as stage shows and give-aways. American pictures are the top money-makers, with the German and French product running second. Since attendance is very high, showmanship is conspicuously absent. CinemaScope makes no difference. If a movie is good, it has a good running time. Good films still bring good money.

Taxes on Pictures: Importers pay LS.25.—(about $.10.) per kilogram as censor charges and similar amount as Customs duty.

TURKEY

Number of theatres in operation: approx. 300.

Number of features imported: approx. 350. They divided up as follows: U. S. 200-250, balance different countries, Italy, 80; France, 15; British, 5-10; Greece, 1; Indian, 3; Mexican, 7; Spain, 10 pictures.

Censorship: All film import is controlled by a censorship body in Istanbul. Dubbed films also are controlled by the censorship body in Istanbul, if it is banned then goes to the censor in Ankara. Only local production is controlled by a censorship body in Ankara.

Admission tax: On a ticket-price of 100-125-200 (for CinemaScope) piastres, 51.50 piastres is counted as admissions tax and the remaining 75 piastres goes to the theatre. Turkish productions tax is 20% only for the government, foreign pictures must pay now in Istanbul 75% and in the provinces 50 to 60%.

Industry regulations: In May, 1951, the government promised to press for passage of legislation to equalize the admission tax between theatres showing foreign films and those showing domestic films. At present, there is a 70 per cent tax on admissions to foreign films and a 25 per cent tax on admissions to theatres showing Turkish films. A bill is pending in the Turkish Parliament to make the tax 60 per cent on all admissions. Up to this moment that bill to change the tax remains unchanged.

Associations: There are two. The first is an association of distributors and theatre men (Filimciler ve Sinemacilar Cemiyeti) located in Beyoglu Sakiz Agac Arzu Apart. Istanbul and the other is the Association of Producers (Yerli Film Yapanlar Cemiyeti) at Beyoglu Sakiz Agac Arzu Apart. Istanbul.

Fitas Yesil Sokak 15 Beyoglu Istanbul; Duru Film Yesil Sokak Beyoglu Istanbul.

General conditions and outlook: Turkish production rivals all American and European productions as Turkish productions are taxed 20 per cent as against 75 per cent for foreign pictures. This situation is unchanged and every day new small firms open to produce local films. There were fewer American pictures imported in 1952-1953-1954 as Turkish producers produced more local films. Turkish producers produced this year more than 60 pictures. This situation continues favorably to them and they intend to produce for the forthcoming year of 1956-57 about 100 pictures if raw film will be imported in Turkey. The Government refuses to allow free importation.

U.S.S.R.

Number of theatres in operation (incl. workers clubs cinema facilities): 35,000.

Studios: 13 for feature production, 16 for news reels and documentaries.

Government departments: Soviet Ministry of Cinematography headed by Minister, with five deputies. Ministry has 14 departments covering entire industry.

Each autonomous Soviet Republic has own ministry of cinematography. Film scripts have to be censored by the Federal ministry.

The industry is behind previously drawn plans, concerning production (300-400 features a year with 1,500-2,000 prints); theatre construction (40,000 at the end of 1950).

As before the task of the industry is not entertainment but education of the masses along Communist lines and to serve as propaganda medium for the Soviet Government.

VENEZUELA

Number of theatres in operation in 1955: 520.

Number of feature films distributed during 1955: 547 (Inc. re-releases 133).

Number of feature films imported during 1955: 550.

Censorship: Each city has its own censorship organization. In some of the smaller towns in the interior, the film may be passed by the censorship board, but religious organization may not approve of it when it is shown, and it is then withdrawn. There is a continuous effort among distributors and exhibitors toward the establishment of a national censorship board.

Customs duties and fees: Processed motion picture film pays an import duty of Bs. 2.60 ($.68) a kilo gross weight.

Admission taxes: In Federal District municipal tax is 10 per cent which is included in the admission price. In other key cities it is from 10 per cent to 20 per cent. In some cases there is tax in the form of exhibition permit stamps.

Financial exchange regulations: Free exchange.

Government departments: The municipal governments of the larger cities have a department called Inspectoria de Espectaculos, which supervises all public shows. In Caracas the title of this official is "Inspector General de Espectaculos del Distrito Federal."

Industry Organization: Film Board of American Distributors operating in the interior of the country.

Principal Distributors:

Principal theater circuits: Cines Venezuela, Carlos Plaza, Pres. Edif. Junin, Caracas; C. A. Cines Unides, Ilio Ulivi, Pres., Edif. Teatro Metropolitana, El Silencio, Caracas; C. A. Circuito Teatral Los Andes, Valeriano Diaz y Riega, Pres. Merida, Estado Merida; C. A. Avance, Teatro Imperio, Valencia. Maracaibo: Empresa Vallasmil; Empresa Urdenta, Maracaibo.

General Conditions and Outlook: During 1955 only one new theatre opened in Caracas and general conditions were improved. The outlook for 1956 is much better than it has been in some years past. This is due to theatre construction decreasing and population in Caracas increasing. The public is returning to the motion picture theatre having grown accustomed to the novelty of television. French productions are gaining in popularity, and the public is growing more and more choosey about the type of pictures, preferring good, solid drama. 90% of all first run theatres have cinemascope installations, 25% of these having optical sterophonic sound equipment. Single feature policy is maintained and there is no prospect of there being any change made.

In 1956 one new second run theatre will be opened in La Carlotta section of Caracas, and a new first run theatre will open in December in the section of Altamira. This will be the largest theatre in Caracas and operated by Cines Unides. This theatre will have 2,200 seating capacity and be on the second floor of an office building, with stores on first floor. There will be an underground garage for 200 cars.

Tiuna Films, President Manuel Socorro, producer of international and Venezuelan news films contemplates producing 3 major pictures during 1956, the first being titled "Diamonds That Do Not Shine."

YUGOSLAVIA

Number of Theatres in Operation: In all 1,388, of which 1,278 permanent for 35mm films, 24 travelling for the same film and 86 for 16mm films—which are still considered as not commercially profitable.

Censorship: All imported films as well as the domestically produced are subject to censorship.

Without the permission of the censorship no film can be shown in Yugoslavia. This commision, however, has no influence, either on the selection or on the import.

Customs and Fees: The State turnover tax amounts to 20%. The small movie theatres in the province, with the annual turnover below half a million dinars do not pay this tax, because of their cultural and educational character.

Under the new law passed in April this year by the Parliament, the imports of foreign films is concentrated in the hands of Yugoslavia-Film, in Belgrade. As for the exports of domestic production, the producers have possibilities the exchange with the foreign films producing enterprises, while the actual export is handled by Yugoslavia-Film.

All payments last year both for imports as well as for exports were paid through the National Bank, while since January through Yugo Bank for Foreign Trade, in most cases in foreign currency. The importers buy the foreign currency from the National Bank at special rate of exchange. The foreign films are bought at fixed price.

Admissions: Varies from 20 to 100 dinars, with the arrangement that over 50% are cheaper seats. The average admission is about 30 dinars (about 13 cents).

Government Departments: The Secretariate for Education of the Supreme Executive Council (the Government) is handling general problems of the local Motion Picture Industry. On the other hand the Republican Councils for Culture and Education are responsible for the film matters on their respective territories.

Main Distributors: Croatia Film, Zagreb, 3. Krizaniceva, Tel: 38955, Director: Milan Krizanic. Makedonija Film, Skoplje, 28. Partizanska, Tel: 1341, Director: Georgi Bosbokilas. Zrinskoga, Tel: 22270, Director: Rado Sustersic. Boka, Hercegnovi (Montenegro), Tel: 264, Director: A. Stanisic. Lovcen Film (Montenegro) has a special section for distribution of films. All six federal republics have one distributing film company, which are distributing not only on their respective territories but also on the territories of other republics.

"Yugoslavia Film", with the seat in Belgrade, is the only authorized enterprise in Yugoslavia to import foreign films for all distributers.

Import of Films in 1955: In 1955 Yugoslavia imported altogether 194 feature films, 30 shorts and over 200 stories of film reels. The import according to the countries was as follows: U. S. A. 104; France 20; Italy 15; England 15; USSR 10; Poland 3; Hungary 3; Western Germany 2; Finland 2; Austria 1; India 1; Brazil 4; Mexico 8; Sweden 1; Czechoslovakia 1; Switzerland 1; Japan 1 and Bulgaria 2.

About 30% of the imported films obtained on the ground of exchange for foreign films.

Export of Films in 1955: In 1955 Yugoslavia exported 31 domestically produced features to 41 foreign countries (five of which were coproductions); 24 documentary films were sold to 12 foreign countries. The exported films went to following countries: Italy, France, England, Austria, Western Germany, Hungary, Romania, Greece, Turkey, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Syria, Liban, Soviet Union, USA, Egypt, Belgium, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Finland, China, Brazil, Eastern Germany, Argentina, Mexico, Ethiopia, etc.

Production: The entire film production in 1955 in Yugoslavia was: 12 feature films, 58 purely documentary films, 55 other shorts and documentary-touristic, 20 educational and 52 numbers of film news reels. Beside that two feature films have been made in coproduction and six significent services have been rendered for foreign feature films. It is expected that in 1956 18 feature films will be made, 78 purely documentary films, etc.

Principal Producers: Every federal Republic has a film company which produces feature films and shorts. Beside that, there are several special enterprises for producing Movietone News, educational films and for the needs of the army. They are as follows:

Avala Film, 1. Aberdareva, Belgrade, Tel: 27685; Director: Dejan Obradovic. Bosna Film, 58. Marsla Tita, Sarajevo; Tel: 3464; Director: Moni Finci. Filmske Novosti, 19. Jordanovac, Zagreb, Tel: 41821, Director: Ivan Jelovica. Centralna Filmska Laboratorija, Kosutnjak, Belgrad, Tel: 56095; Director: Miroslav Savkovic. Lovcen Film, Budva, Montenegro, Tel: 15, Director: A. Obradovic. Triglav Film, 9, Zrinskoga, Ljubljana, Slovenia, Tel: 22293; Director: Branimir Tuma. Vardar Film, 13. dvadesetsedma ulica, Skoplje, Macedonia, Tel: 2025; Director: Vanco Naumov. Slavija Film, 26. Terazije, Beograd, Tel: 30765, Director: Golub Gojkov (Still producing only documentary films). Dunav Film, 14. Brankova, Belgrade, Tel: 22573, Director: Miladin Kutlesic (Producing only shorts). Zora Film, 48. Kruge, Zagreb, Tel: 25243, Director: Josip Jelinic (Producing only educational films). Central Studio of feature films and Central Film Laboratory, Kosutnjak, Belgrade, possess all necessary equipments, of which good part is up-to-date, which is rented to foreign and domestic film producers.

All above named film producing enterprises form "The society of Yugoslav film producers" with the seat in Belgrade, Knez Mihailova 19/II, Tel: 22254, Secretary Jovan Ruzic.

The Yugoslav army has its own film company "Zastava Film", which devotes special attention for the need of the army and to occasional important events from the Yugoslav army life.

General conditions and outlook: During 1955 the motion picture industry (production) reached its peak. During the year the export of Yugoslav produced films was considerably increased, which had excellent result on the disproportion between the costs of production and low admission fees.

The interested republican institutions render financial aid to the film producing companies, providing they get a kind of guarantee that the films will fulfill their task on cultural and educational field.

The production of an regular feature film in Yugoslavia amounts to about $150,000.

The new system of free contracting between the free actors and the workers management of the film producing enterprises gave very good results so far and caused immense improvement.

Stimulated measures forseen for all who work on film production remained still in force. For the film creators a special, very attractive premium is introduced, especially for those achieving the reduction of cost of production. For achieved success in the exploitation in the country and abroad, up to five percent is reserved for the actors and other personel which worked on the production of the film, and, if the enterprise make a profit on the end of the year, considerable percentage is reserved to be divided among the members of the collective.

Th favorable conditions exist essential to insure the continuation of fruitful activity of Yugoslav Motion Picture industry. The enterprises are operating as independent economic units, and, before starting to make a film, they have to insure all necessary financial and material means.

Co-production: To co-production special attention is paid. Thus, an agreement is already concluded with a German film producing company for coproduction of one feature and with a French producer for two feature films. Negotiations are under way for the agreements with Germany, France and Italy for some more co-production.

There is only one factory in the whole country for the production of film equipment which is worth mentioning. It is Iskra, Kralj, Slovenia, which is producing annually about 500 film projectors, of which greater part is available for exports.

The factory produces now the projectors for 16mm films and the projectors of 35mm for the 3-D projection in 3-D.

During last year some modern equipments have been imported from Western Germany and France.

Better Theatres

The authoritative Equipment and Refreshment Section of —

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

Published monthly as a section of the Herald, BETTER THEATRES is unquestionably the best read publication on theatre design, equipment and maintenance.

Reaches The People Who Count— The People Who BUY!

Enjoying as it does the soundly entrenched, solid circulation of MOTION PICTURE HERALD, the BETTER THEATRES section has throughout the years performed in the Quigley tradition of progressive pioneering and influential leadership.

That these are not so many words is evident from the long list of now-accepted standards of design, equipment and maintenance which have become established in many thousands of the nation's theatres — and which were first advocated or received their greatest impetus through vigorous editorial campaigns in BETTER THEATRES.

BETTER REFRESHMENT MERCHANDISING is a special department in every issue of the HERALD — the pioneer in this important specialty. (Just as BETTER THEATRES was the first trade paper section devoted to the physical theatre.)

Watch for further additions to the long list of pace-setting innovations in the HERALD and BETTER THEATRES.

A Quigley Publication

The Industry's Most Influential Weekly Trade Paper

For more than a third-of-a-century the dominating thought behind every issue of the Herald has been to merit the full respect and thorough confidence of its readers.

That is why it continues to be the industry's most influential weekly trade paper.

And that is why the Herald's subscription revenue is greater than any other film trade paper receives. . . .

The readers of the Herald believe the Herald and believe in the soundness of its principles.

And the readers of the Herald include over 95% of the total buying power of the nation's theatres.

fame and fortune . . .

In each field there is one product that is recognized as the most distinguished in its sphere—the accepted peer among all others of its kind.

The single word that expresses the utmost
in fine jewelry is TIFFANY.
In automobiles it is CADILLAC.
Among publications for industry and business it is FORTUNE.

And among annual trade publications for the field of motion pictures, radio and television it is FAME.

There is an indefinable, but nevertheless definite, extra measure of benefit—a greater prestige value derived by the many who make appropriate use of the pages of FAME. It represents a rewarding opportunity—an investment that pays well and soundly!

FAME is a Quigley Publication
